

THE Sacramento Bee's once-famous headline, "Thank God, the Legislature has Adjourned," will not be initiated anywhere this year. It has been a harmonious, efficient, generally fruitful session, moving with almost too little friction. The only complaint—that of Paul Scharrenburg on the defeat of labor legislation—is a criticism of inaction; not of action. For once, our California democracy, in its representative department, has operated constructively and efficiently, without complaint of doing too much, doing nothing, or doing freak things. The worst charges against it were wholesale vote trading, and some compromises to get bills passed which would have been better bills—but not law at all—if not compromised. A legislature which balances much good with no worse misdeeds than that, is good enough.

SOME of the session's achievements would have been dramatically sensational if only there had been enough friction to let off the sparks. The reorganization of the state departments has been hanging fire for at least fifteen years. Every Governor, and the enlightened fraction of every legislature has realized this—but none of them have done it. When it was done in Illinois, by Governor Lowden, it made its sponsor a national character, and may make him President. When it was proposed in New York, by the convention over which Elihu Root presided, it stirred the state and the nation. Finally, it was done in California almost without a ripple. From the standpoint of dramatics, there is such a thing as being too efficient. The Crime Commission program was equally remarkable in the smoothness with which most of it went through. Here was a good thing which emanated from the previous administration, to which no jealous factional opposition developed. The most comprehensive program of reform in criminal law ever passed at a single session of an American legislature, plus a fundamental reform of judicial procedure, went through with the usual frictionlessness. The election laws were simplified, and the reform of the state tax system, likewise at least ten years overdue, was prepared for, with the necessary preliminary study to guarantee that, when it is done, it will be done intelligently. These things alone, if there had been nothing else, would justify much more advertising than so quiet a legislature will ever get.

ONCE more, the "gun." Some boys, in Brooklyn, found a rusty revolver and played "policeman." So the boy who played the robber is dead, and the other boy, though only ten years old, will never forget while he lives. Somebody threw out the weapon. Like any other rubbish, or perhaps to conceal a crime, and the natural result happened. Nearer home, a young man of prominent family jokingly "held up" his best friend with a revolver that was "not loaded." The friend is dead, and the shooter is prostrated, inconsolable. Neither of these innocent tragedies would have happened, except for the not innocent fact that man-killing weapons are so common that they are found to be found nowhere, except in the pockets of those license to kill people with them—if such there must be. "People" includes burglars and robbers. Specifying that these are included, as "people," the statement still holds good—a pistol has only one purpose; to kill people. And, if there are "people" who "need killing," the pistol usually kills the others.

THE California Billy Owl goes on an errand of human service. Lord Howe Island, in the South Seas, is so overrun with rats that cats are of no use. Traps and poison have proved ineffective, so a shipment of owls will be tried, to see if their appetites are not adequate to the task. Then, unless the owls themselves become a pest, the problem is solved. The owls are probably safe. But it is risky business, upsetting the balance of nature. The South Sea Islands are especially full of unfortunate examples of this mistake. The mina birds were imported to kill the insects, and they killed and starved other birds instead. The mongooses was imported to kill rats, and turned out to be worse than the rats. The Japanese the native plant and the guava, all attractive plants, became uncontrollable weeds. The Mediterranean fly came in nursery stock of new and valuable crops, and so prevented the export of those and other products. Even human races, imported because they would work cheaper, displaced the finer native race. These islands, small and remote, they are, have been one of the most instructive laboratories of human experiment.

THE earth has just been reweighed. The figures, according to the latest revision, is 6,592,000,000,000,000,000 tons. Previous estimates had been too large by approximately 4,120,000,000,000,000,000 tons. Which may seem unimportant, except that it serves as the standard by which everything else in the universe is measured. Especially, it is one more mastery by the human mind of things inconceivably greater than the human body. In all the infinite universe, there is nothing more insignificant than the frame of Man crawling the dust of a note which floats around one of a billion specks of star-dust. Yet in all that universe, the only power that can grasp and measure it whole is the mind of Man.

MAN DIES IN BEACH OIL BLAZE

Workers Fight to Save Levees

BACKWATERS ENDANGERING LARGE AREA

Flood Threat Is Becoming More Serious Hourly in South Central Parishes

RECORD RIVER STAGE

Men Drafted from Refugee Camps to Work on Dikes Warding Off Torrents

(By United Press)
NEW ORLEANS, May 6.—Rise of the Red river to unprecedented heights today turned the Louisiana flood battle southward. A valiant effort was being made to have the levee at Pineville, where the river gauge stood at 41.9, one tenth foot higher than ever before recorded.

Workers have been drafted from refugee camps to work on the levees, but the threat of flood in the south central parishes is growing more serious hourly.

In Rapides parish, along Bayou Rapides, levee crews redoubled efforts to save at least part of the cotton crop in the section. State prison convicts are working with prominent farmers and bankers on the levee in an attempt to stop the water.

Plantations threatened are large and loss if the levees break would dwarf that of Texas basin.

A portion of eastern Monroe was ordered evacuated. Backwater attacking the city has risen to a depth of five feet and efforts to construct a levee to hold it may have come too late.

Backwater from the Lafourche swamp continued to rise today, increasing the menace to Monroe. The swamp is fed by floods to the east.

Swamp backwater driven across country by the Mississippi dike breaks, washed against the levee of the Ouachita river, threatening a flood from that source unless the river falls before the backwater softens the levees and allows the current to sweep through.

The last transportation means between Delhi and Oakgrove was severed today. Bus traffic was suspended when water on the highway became too deep for operation of the machines.

Delhi, housing a large number of northern Louisiana refugees, now is isolated except for access by boat.

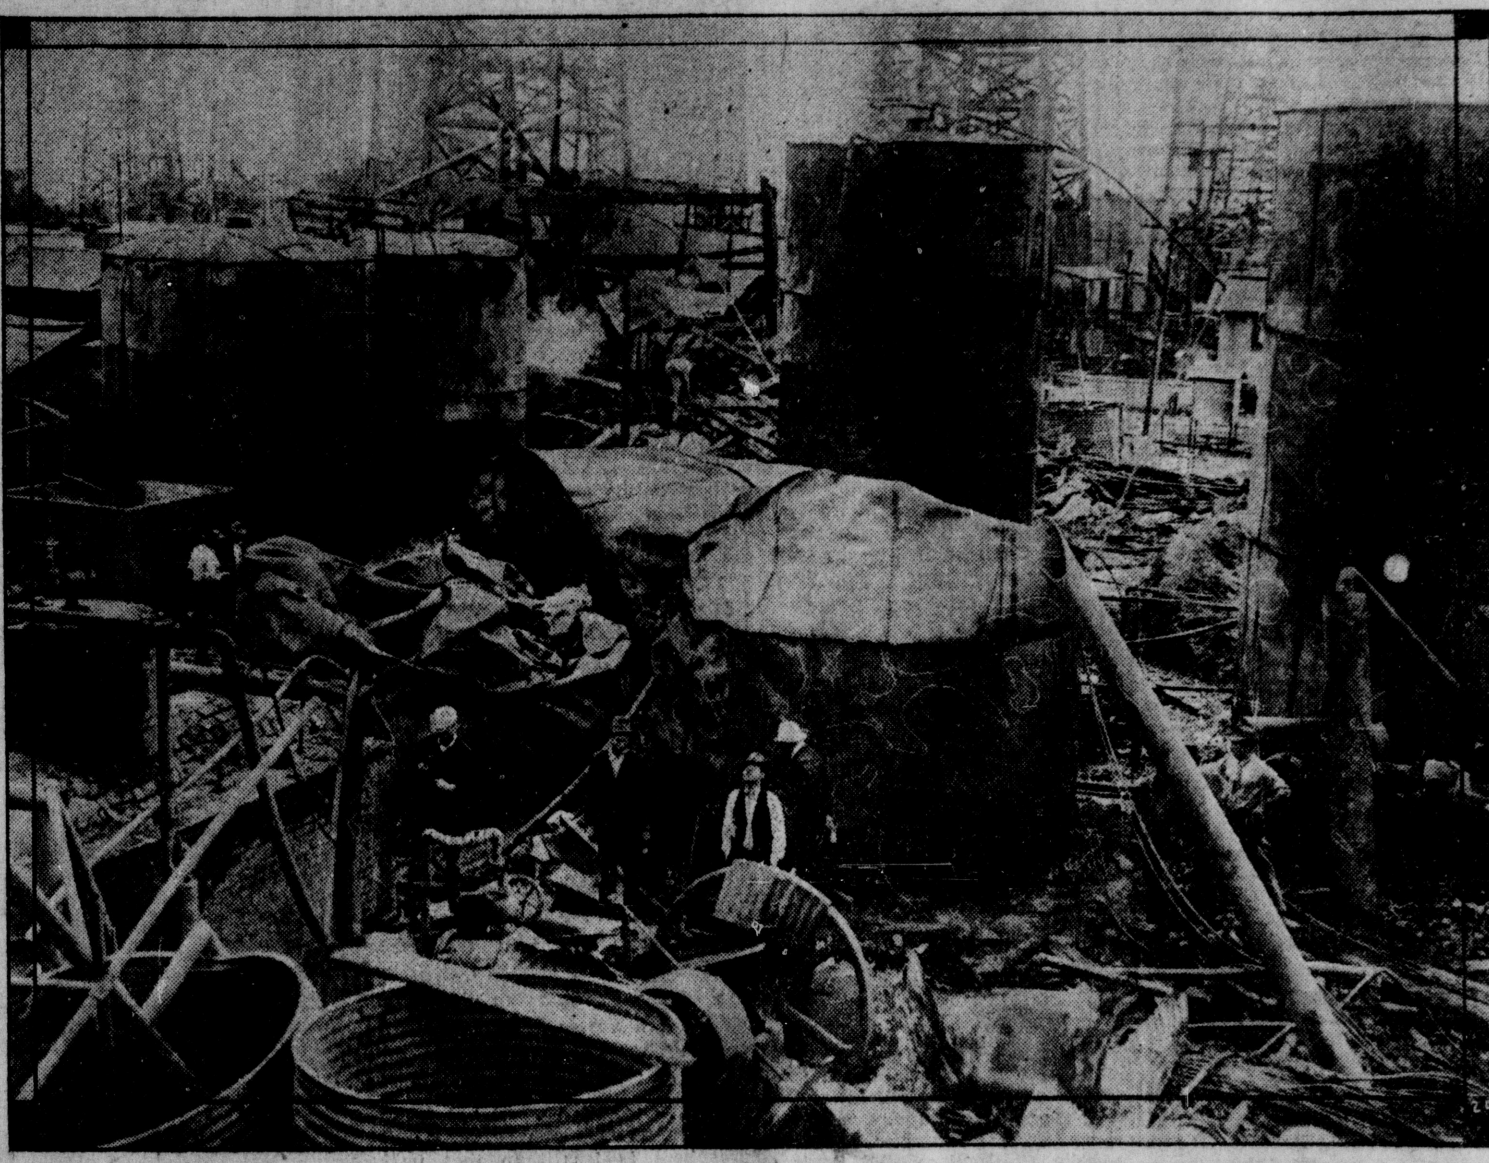

Many of the northern Louisiana householders have not left their homes and refuse to do so, rescue workers have reported. They want to begin work of rehabilitation as soon as the water begins to recede. Families are living under the roofs of their homes as the water continues to rise. This is said to be particularly true in Tensas parish, where it is estimated two-thirds of the parish's 12,500 residents have declined to leave. Boats are traveling Tensas streets and roads.

But many farmers in other parishes have given up the struggle. They were trekking toward high ground near Delhi and other points. It is possible to move only across the tops of ridges. They walked, rode horseback or moved across in steaming automobiles.

The Black river was out of its banks almost throughout its entire length. The river was 40 miles wide in places and growing wider hourly. Finest cotton lowlands along the river are under 13 to 20 feet of water, roads are covered with 12 feet of water in many sections. Levees, which were thought adequate for protection against the floods are completely submerged.

Unlike other sections, the Black

RUINS OF $500,000 BLAZE WHICH LAST NIGHT DESTROYED 8 OIL TANKS AND 3 RIGS IN HUNTINGTON BEACH DISTRICT

Here are the remains of three oil derricks and eight oil tanks, destroyed last night in an oil fire in Huntington Beach, where J. T. Morrow, 55, of Huntington Beach, was burned to death. At the left can be seen one of the large oil tanks, which swelled up, but failed to explode. Damage was estimated at $500,000. Three oil rigs were totally destroyed and two partially burned. Nine other rigs and nearly a dozen other oil tanks, located in the same block were not damaged.

DAMAGE CAUSED BY FIRE IN ORANGE COUNTY FIELD ESTIMATED AT $500,000

Explosion of 8 Tanks Sends Blazing Streams of Fluid Coursing Through Streets

OVERFLOW BELIEVED CAUSE

ONE MAN was burned to death and damage estimated at a half million dollars was caused last night, in Huntington Beach, in one of the most spectacular oil fires ever to occur in Orange county. J. T. "Bill" Morrow, 55, pumper for the United Oil company, died in the flames. His remains, a small bit of charred flesh and bone, were found this morning by fellow workmen.

Three oil rigs were destroyed and the wells, which were flowing, practically were ruined. Two other oil rigs were so badly damaged that they will have to be rebuilt. Eight oil tanks, containing nearly 10,000 barrels of oil, exploded and sent rivers of fire through the crowded town lot section in Huntington Beach. The fire raged in one of the thickest districts in the town lot section, on Twentieth street, between Orange and Magnolia avenues. Nine other oil rigs in the block and more than a dozen large oil tanks were threatened for a time, but were saved.

Origin of the blaze is unknown. It is believed that one of the oil tanks, owned by the Ahlburg Gasoline company, overflowed and became ignited from a boiler.

Sprayed by Burning Oil

Morrow evidently was walking between the tanks when the fire broke out and the explosion, it is believed, sprayed him with burning oil. Other workers in the area escaped uninjured.

The three derricks destroyed were owned by the Placentia-Richfield Oil company, Ahlburg Gasoline corporation and the Huntington Signal Oil company. The Placentia-Richfield well was reported to have been completely ruined by the fire. The Ahlburg Gasoline company well, which was being operated by the United Oil company, also was reported to have been badly damaged. The Huntington-Signal company rig was destroyed and much of the company machinery lost.

Two other rigs, one belonging to the Standard Oil company and one to the Petroleum-Midway Oil company, were damaged and it probably will be several days before they can be placed in operation.

Several other rigs, within 100 feet of the flaming derricks and exploding tanks, were not damaged and continued to pump during the blaze. Oil men declared the fire one of the most unique in oil history. Rivers of flaming oil ran down the streets and alleys but failed to ignite any other rigs.

Heroic Work by Firemen

Heroic work by the Huntington Beach, Signal Hill and Newport Beach fire departments was largely responsible for bringing the fire under control. The entire town lot section of Huntington Beach was threatened by the fire and had it not been brought under control by the fire departments, millions of dollars would have been lost.

The fire started at 5:30 yesterday afternoon and was not extinguished until after midnight.

Eight oil tanks exploded during the fire. Two of the tanks contained 1500 barrels of oil each and six of the tanks contained 750 barrels of oil each. More than a dozen other oil tanks, containing nearly 20,000 barrels of oil, are located in the same block.

Party Heads Are Guests Of Coolidge

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, May 6.—The situation in the Republican party in the country was discussed at a breakfast this morning at the temporary White House, where President Coolidge acted as host to 11 Republican leaders. It was learned Chairman William M. Butler, of the Republican national committee, presented to the leaders results of his recent transcontinental political survey.

Those attending included: Secretary of State Kellogg; Secretary of the Treasury Mellon; Secretary of the Navy Wilbur; Secretary of the Interior Work, Republican floor leader; Senator Nicholas Longworth, Senator Curtis, Republican floor leader; Representative Treadway, Republican, Massachusetts; Representative Snell, Republican, New York; C. Bascom Slemm, former secretary and political adviser to the president, and Butler.

It also was reported the guests discussed a prospective 1928 Republican national convention site and considered the status of present foreign relations.

Preceding the gathering, Butler made the following statement to the press:

1—Business conditions are "apparently prosperous" in the cities of the west that he visited.

2—The Republican organization is in good fettle throughout the west and there is deep interest in

SHOTGUN USED BY MAN TAKING HIS OWN LIFE

C. O. Adams, 60, of Santa Ana, Ends Life Because Of Despondency

Cory O. Adams, 60, retired, residing at 1711 West Fifth street, committed suicide at 9:30 a. m. today, by shooting himself through the head with a small shotgun.

His body was found by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Bessie Adams, who, with her husband, Leo Adams, was in the house at the time. Neither of them heard the shot.

His health and despondency were said to have been reasons for Adams taking his own life.

Mrs. Adams, the daughter-in-law, told officers that Adams had asked her about Dorothy, her daughter, at 8:30 a. m. She did not see him after that until she found the body, when she went into the children's room at the rear of the house. Adams' body was found lying on the floor, his head on a Mother's day pillow. Another pillow had been used to muffle the sound of the explosion. He had been dead for some time.

Officers Sid Smithwick, Barnard and Hershey summoned Coroner Charles D. Brown, who took

EXPECT CLUBS OF SOUTHLAND WILL SECEDE

Prepare to Withdraw From State Body After Losing 'Battle'

(By United Press)
SACRAMENTO, May 6.—The "Southern California Federation of Women's Clubs" will be the name adopted by clubs seceding from the mother federation, as a result of the defeat of Southern California delegates to the state convention here in their fight for representation based upon membership, southern club leaders predicted today.

Out-voted two to one, the southern delegates accepted news of their defeat with a renewal of their plan to withdraw from the state organization.

"Withdrawal was preordained before we came up here, in case of an unfavorable vote," said Mrs. William Read, of the Los Angeles Ebell club, which proposed the revision program.

Mrs. Charles Turner, president of the Friday Morning club, of Los Angeles, would not predict the action of her group, although several of the members declared they were reasonably certain that the club will follow the lead of Ebell in its protest against the failure of the state federation to adopt plans for eliminating the extra delegate from small clubs.

That the secession will not stop with clubs within the Los Angeles city limits is indicated by the interest expressed by southern delegates as to the probable fate of Mrs. J. B. Lorbeer, of the Santa Monica Bay Women's club, yesterday elected vice president-at-large of the state federation.

It was declared the Santa Monica club, as well as the Tuesday Afternoon club of Glendale, and the Hollywood Woman's club, would join the Los Angeles Ebell, which would leave Mrs. Lorbeer representing a club not in the state federation.

Gov. and Mrs. C. C. Young were guests of honor at the annual state banquet, last night, at the Hotel Sanquet, with Dr. Marlana Bertola, of San Francisco, president, presiding.

This morning's address was given by Rose V. S. Barry, of New York, on the subject of "Music, Literature and Art, Man's Achievement."

Money in his pockets and in the cash register was not disturbed by the slayer.

Boise Mayor Dies Of Polo Injuries

BOISE, Ida., May 6.—Mayor Herbert F. Lemp, of Boise, died today from injuries received in a practice polo game last Sunday.

Lemp was hurt on the head when he was thrown from his horse. He was taken to a hospital where it was thought his injuries were not serious and he was sworn into office Monday afternoon in bed, having been recently elected mayor of Boise. He was taken home but last night his condition became critical and an emergency operation was performed from which he did not recover.

ENGINEER DIES IN MONOXIDE FUMES

HOLLYWOOD, May 6.—Trapped by the fumes from an automobile exhaust pipe, John C. Campbell, 55, a civil engineer, died in his garage here today before he could summon aid.

According to his wife, Campbell arose early today to work on his machine. Apparently he went into the garage and started the motor after closing the door.

When officers, summoned from the Hollywood police station arrived, they found the switch of the car on, but the engine was not running. Campbell, judging from the position of his body, became aware of his danger an instant too late.

L. A. FIRE CAUSES $175,000 DAMAGE

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—Fire, which swept through five factories in the southeastern industrial district of Los Angeles today, caused an estimated damage of $175,000.

The blaze, of undetermined origin started in the Imperial Cabinet company and spread to the Master Foundry company plant, the DeLuxe Lamp Manufacturing company, the C. R. Covington Novelty company and the Superbo Water Heater Manufacturing plant.

Because of the intense heat, firemen were unable to prevent the spread of the flames to a private garage owned by H. Harvey.

NEW EVIDENCE DECLARED UNCOVERED BY INVESTIGATING DETECTIVES

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, May 6.—Secretary of the Navy Wilbur has ordered reconvening of a court of inquiry in the death of Ensign Julian McShane, at a party in the California Yacht club, San Pedro, Calif., last October.

The order for reconvening, kept secret since April, was issued after McShane's mother, understood to reside at Elliott City, Md., had informed the navy department that detectives had uncovered new evidence.

NEW EVIDENCE TO BE INTRODUCED

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—New evidence that is expected to prove of a sensational nature will be introduced at the reopening of an inquiry into the death of Ensign Julian J. McShane, Attorney Lawrence W. Frankley, retained by the dead man's mother, announced here today.

McShane's body was found floating on the tide waters near San Pedro harbor three days after he disappeared from a party at the California Yacht club, October 8.

A fractured skull was reported by autopsy surgeons, but this was dismissed by naval investigators with the explanation that the young ensign had received it when he fell from the yacht club pier.

Orville Pate, pier watchman, testified at the inquest, however, that on the night McShane disappeared he saw a blood spattered young man answering the ensign's descriptions walking on the pier.

The new evidence is believed to be in line with that disclosure.

CONTINUE TO FIGHT
ADVANCING FLOODS

VICKSBURG, Miss., May 6.—In face of repeated defeats and reversals, Louisiana farmers and villagers continued today to fight advancing floods in the hope of saving small sections which have escaped inundation.

Breathless, sweating, swearing crews are working on levees at a score of points to stop the water. Capitalists, negro laborers, farmer refugees, merchants and state convicts strained side by side in the effort to build up and strengthen the river wall.

The most concentrated effort was being made on the levee at Pineville, across the river from Alexandria, where the Mississippi was higher than ever before recorded.

Refugees at camps near the scene have been drafted to work on the dikes.

"No work, no food" was the edict of rescue workers in ordering that all able bodied men do their share to save the river wall.

One refugee party, arriving in Delhi, solemnly drove a mule on which were seated seven white and colored children of varying ages.

Delhi, which was completely surrounded by water, had the appearance of a boom camp.

Refugees there took their misfortunes, for the most part, with good grace. Children laughed and played about the tents while their elders worked to make the camps as comfortable as possible.

NEARLY THIRD OF MILLION REFUGEES BEING CARED FOR
WASHINGTON, May 6.—The Red Cross disaster fund reached $7,813,908 today as word came from Henry M. Baker, relief director, that the Red Cross now is caring for nearly one-third of a million refugees in the flood zone of the south. The $10,000,000 minimum goal set in President Coolidge's second relief appeal will be distinctly a minimum, Baker indicated.

It was the first time in history a plane had passed through the treacherous air over the peak in the early spring.

Butler did not visit the farming regions, where some rumblings of party leaders have been heard because of Mr. Coolidge's veto of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill. He did, however, touch strategically located cities as Chicago, Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Denver, Kansas City, Minneapolis, St. Paul and St. Louis.

Influential G. O. P. Leaders
The president's guests were the most influential Republican leaders.

Secretary of the Interior Work, back from Hawaii and the west, corroborated statements of Butler that the Republican party is in good condition in the west with hopes bright for 1928. The guests were of the general impression that continuation of present economic conditions for a year would result in Mr. Coolidge's renomination in 1928.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 6.—While world wide co-operative marketing is the keynote to the problem confronting wheat growers of the world, it may be half a century before such co-operation can be established, in the opinion of speakers at the international wheat pool conference here.

Without exception, speakers from the United States, Canada, Russia and Australia sounded a world-wide co-operation as a basis for solution to the problem encountered by wheat growers of all countries in marketing their crops.

Some 300 farmers, U. S. officials and visiting delegates from foreign countries heard the addresses last night. The speakers included William M. Jardine, secretary of agriculture of the United States.

Of Chaplin Peace

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—Lita Grey Chaplin has set $1,250,000 as the price for peace and settlement out of court of her divorce case against her estranged husband, Charlie Chaplin, it was revealed here today.

That an offer to settle the case had been made, became known for the first time, after opposing counsel began hurling statements and disclosed that secret negotiations have been under way for almost a week.

Attorneys Lloyd Wright and Charles E. Millikan issued the first statement declaring that Chaplin did not have $1,250,000 and therefore would be unable to meet the terms of peace offered by his young wife.

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—The ministry must be made more attractive to young men!

Speaking before a report meeting of the Los Angeles presbytery here last night, Will H. Hays, chairman of the laymen's committee of the Presbyterian church of the United States declared the future of the church was in the hands of its administrators.

"For a life of service the average material compensation of preachers is less than that paid our day laborer. It is both a moral and economic crime," he said.

Hays asked that California assume leadership in the $15,000,000 Presbyterian pension fund drive, the purpose of which is to retire ministers and other church workers on salary when their years of activity are past.

MAN IS FOILED IN KIDNAPING ATTEMPT

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—Foiled in an alleged attempt to kidnap 7-year-old Ruth Moreno, T. H. Bartlett, 35, a plastering contractor, formerly of Seattle, was lodged in jail here today by detectives, who feared mob violence.

Bartlett was taken into custody after he is asserted to have driven off with the child and then thrown the little girl to the street when two women in an automobile gave chase and forced him to the curb. According to detectives, the man invited the little girl into his automobile on a lonely street near the Los Angeles river and as he drove past the Moreno home the child screamed and attracted the attention of her mother, Mrs. Frank Moreno.

The woman called for help and Mrs. D. L. Stewart and Mrs. H. A. Maddox, passing in an automobile, gave chase. Bartlett escaped but was later taken into custody by detectives.

CAPISTRANO DOCTOR IN SAN DIEGO JAIL

Dr. Robert C. Montgomery, "San Juan Capistrano" physician, was arrested in Santa Ana yesterday by three county officers on three counts charging perjury. His bond was set at $5000.
The physician's arrest was the outgrowth of his testimony in several trials of Ray George, of Los Angeles, in San Diego, some time ago. George was involved in an automobile accident and it was alleged in the complaint against Dr. Montgomery that he gave false testimony at the trials. According to officers, the physician testified at two of the trials that George was not drunk, although the physician well knew that the third defendant was intoxicated. The third count in the indictment is based on the doctor's testimony that the Joseph Switzer, driver of the car which George's machine hit, told him (Dr. Montgomery) that he himself was to blame for the crash.

FRANCE TAKES HEED OF WAR'S LESSONS NOW

PARIS, May 6.—The bill for the organization of the nation in time of war, which was passed by the chamber of deputies, a few days ago, is the first of a series of measures that together constitute the most elaborate and logically complete scheme of national defense designed in any country since the European war.

Every part of the scheme has been planned by the political and military experts of France to take full account of the lessons of the war. The bill for the organization of the nation stars from the principle that every individual is liable to take his or her share in the defense of the country or in the maintenance of its material and moral life.

To Mobilize Resources
Drastic and clearly defined powers are given to the government to mobilize all the national resources of any kind, personal and material, industrial and commercial, so that as little as possible will be left to war-time improvisation. The same measure authorizes the construction of frontier defenses, including the building of light railways and preparation against air attacks.

In completion of the scheme of national defense three other bills provide for the reorganization of the French army system from top to bottom. These three bills—a bill for the general organization of the army, a bill for cadres and effectives, and a recruiting bill—are already formally before parliament.

The comprehensive measure of 48 clauses authorizing the concentration for war purposes of all the activities of the country passed through the chamber of deputies in four days. It is true that it had taken months to prepare and had been considered by the army committee, but the parliamentary procedure was astonishingly hasty, and public opinion, so far from being given opportunity for expression, scarcely had time to take note of what was being done.

Council of Defense
The bill defines the respective powers of the government and the military commanders, leaving to the former the choice of general aims and to the latter the authority in carrying them out. Such definitions as the deputies during the war conclusively showed—yet they were axioms of geometry. This is all the more remarkable as the bill gives so much prominence to the superior council of national defense, which is in war time to be the supreme advisory body of the government. The duties it will have of collecting information and making recommendations must, under the stress of war conditions, make it extremely powerful.

During the brief parliamentary debate much time was taken up by a dispute about the duties of deputies in war time, a point the end decided by a compromise by which the deputies may choose for all whether they will serve with the colors or not. If they elect to serve, they must not come back to the chamber but may delegate their voting powers to colleagues.

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—A Japanese houseboy, known as "Jungle," employed by Paul Kelly, screen juvenile, who goes to trial Monday for the murder of Ray Raymond, musical comedy star, was being sought as an important state witness, it became known here today. The houseboy, according to Deputy District Attorney Forrest Murray disappeared following the battle between Kelly and Raymond, from which the latter died. He was to have been called as a witness.

EXPORTS EMBARGO STRAINS RELATIONS

TEHERAN, May 6.—The Soviet embargo on Persian exports to Russia is placing a certain strain upon the relations of the two countries, although the position of the soviet in Persia is probably strong enough to support the tension. There is a popular idea, nourished by the soviet propaganda agencies, that Russia is Persia's friend, the enemy of imperialism, and the champion of the east against the west.

The northern Persian provinces, however, have suffered severely from the embargo, which has now been in force for more than a year. Ill feeling has been aggravated by the Russian refusal to conclude a commercial treaty or to reopen their frontier except on their own terms, and there is a growing demand for retaliatory measures.

It is, however, doubtful whether a Persian boycott of Russian goods actually will take place.

BENEFIT DANCE TONIGHT FOR FLOOD VICTIMS

With all plans complete for the Mississippi Valley Flood relief dance, scheduled to be held tonight at the American Legion home on Birch street, Ed Kolbe, chairman of the American Legion dance committee and Jules Markel, commander of the Santa Ana post, announced today that they believed the dance would be the largest ever staged in Orange county.

Hundreds of tickets to the festival have been sold and from the advance sales they have decided that the dance will be one of gigantic proportions from an attendance standpoint.

The West Coast-Walker orchestra, recognized as one of the best in this end of the state have offered their services free for the evening as their bit in adding the stricken families of the south, and the members of the orchestra has worked hard in preparation for the dance. Many of them also have been selling tickets in an effort to make the dance as big a success as possible.

Kolbe has announced several special features for this evening's entertainment which will add to the fun making during the dance, he said today.

LARENCE DIES SHORTLY AFTER SHOOTING SELF

Adam Laurence, 59, well known resident of Tustin, who shot himself through the head shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon at his home, died 3 hours later without regaining consciousness.

Dependent since the death of his mother, Mrs. Evelyn Laurence, 80, with whom he lived on D street, Tustin, and whose funeral was held Tuesday, relatives were inclined to believe that he did not care to live without her and took his life in order to join her in another world.

The body was removed to the Smith and Tuthill funeral parlors, and Coroner Charles D. Brown has set an inquest for late this afternoon.

Laurence had been a resident of Orange county for 45 years and had been living most of the time in Tustin. For 16 years he had been foreman of the Browning ranch at Tustin.

Funeral services will not be made until after the inquisition.

WARNS AGAINST TRUST SYSTEM AT CONFERENCE

GENEVA, May 6.—Henry M. Robinson, president of the First National Bank of Los Angeles and head of the United States delegation to the League of Nations International Economic conference in session here, warned the conference today of the dangers of the trust system and of the American public's aversion to governmental participation in trusts of private industry.

Robinson's speech was especially important because one of the principal objects of the conference is to create international trusts in each industry. The American's speech was entitled "Rationalization of Industry."

In introducing Robinson to the conference, President Theunis expressed, in behalf of the entire conference, the sympathy of the world for the flood victims of the Mississippi Valley. Robinson was the first American to speak.

American experience with trusts formed the basis for Robinson's warning.

"I will not attempt to discuss in detail," he said, "at this time, Europe's economic problems, which it has been proposed to meet by cartelization. But, when the conference reaches those points, the United States position will be that there may be benefits hoped for from such international grouping of industry, but that this would depend upon the wisdom and good purposes of those in control."

Anglo-American differences regarding British methods of maintaining rubber prices at an artificial level again became a subject of discussion before the league when Robinson referred to the speech yesterday of Sir Max Muppratt of the Federation of British Industries in which Sir Max said restrictions on rubber production, almost wholly a monopoly within the British empire, were not discriminatory.

"I wonder," said Robinson, "whether the fact that 75 per cent of the rubber is consumed in a non-producing country while the country controlling the restrictions consumes but seven per cent of the total supply, might be regarded as discrimination. I understand, however, that this problem is solving itself as it is already meeting opposition within the empire."

Seaside Home Is Rendezvous of S. O. S. Club

"Twas a glorified picnic which members of the S. O. S. club held yesterday in the seaside home of Mrs. John P. Baumgartner at Laguna Beach, each member contributing to the 1 o'clock luncheon menu, and the prize for high score being selected from club funds.

It was one of the pleasantest meetings of a club noted for its enjoyable gatherings. While the sun refused to shine according to schedule, it was not regretted, for there was a soft gray-velvet quality to air, land and sea, that made the surroundings particularly beautiful.

The beach home's location, on a bluff commanding a sweeping view of coast and sea, and the arrangement of the rooms so that those at each table had a view of either ocean or sweeping hillside, added to the enjoyment of the guests. Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock on tables centered with slender vases of Cecil Brunner roses and columbine, and the combined pink and yellow tints were apparent on the place cards which later served as bridge talismans.

The menu was quite as eloquent of "ring as were decorative appointments, and offered such epicurean delights as fried spring chicken, tender little green peas, scalloped new potatoes, fruit salad, Neapolitan ice cream, angel food and devil food cake and coffee, salted nuts and candied grapefruit in wee yellow baskets.

Bridge in the afternoon was especially interesting because several of the members have been making a scientific study of the game, and put their added knowledge of the rules into effect. Mrs. Roy Hall was victorious, and was presented a lovely little cut-crystal nappy.

There were several guests to share the club-members' pleasure in the day, an especially interesting one being Miss Elizabeth Brownlee, house-guest of Mrs. John E. Gowen, who is spending the winter in Southern California. Mrs. Samuel M. Davis, Mrs. Frank A. Patterson and Mrs. Emmett Elliott were other guests of club-members, who were Mrs. Baumgartner, the hostess; Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson, Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh, Mrs. E. E. Keech, Mrs. William E. Otis, Mrs. James E. Liebig, Mrs. John E. Gowen, Mrs. Wyckoff Hoxie, Mrs. C. A. Vance, Mrs. Roy Hall, Mrs. Irwin F. Landis and Mrs. Edward M. Nealley.

from 7000 of them, of whom 2720 were in public office, and as many more in quasi-public positions. The vast majority of all the graduates were rendering public service of one sort or another, and fully a third of them in actual public office. So large a showing could of course not be made for any other profession, and perhaps not for any other school, since there is probably no other law school whose graduates are so widely distributed, and consequently in a position to render so many sorts of service in so many places. Even making allowances for the exceptional position of Harvard, these figures show that the profession of the law still holds some part of its former rank as the avenue to public service. Its public aspects have not all been absorbed in its more characteristic modern function of skilled business assistance. Our law makers are still at least in part law-knowers.

N. Y. KIDNAPING GANG ROUNDED UP BY POLICE

(By United Press)

NEW YORK, May 6.—A gang of kidnapers, whose operations extended to half a dozen cities, has been broken up by the killing here of one member of the gang and the arrest of several others, police said today.

Two men, abducted and held for ransom here since April 28, were released today, police announced. The kidnaped men, Abraham Scharlin and James H. Taylor, said to be real estate dealers, were found by police after their release and were taken to headquarters to tell their story.

Police connected their kidnappings with recent similar episodes in Chicago, in which gangsters have preyed on wealthy men engaged in liquor running activities there and in Cleveland and Detroit.

Little was known about the two kidnaped men. Both were said to be interested in real estate deals here. Scharlin lived in Manhattan with his brother, Jacob. They came from the Pacific coast and formerly lived in Chicago. Both were indicted here recently for rum running, but the indictments were dismissed when government witnesses vanished.

CONVICTED ON COAST OF SMUGGLING DOPE

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—Abe Scharlin and his two brothers, Nathan and Jack, formerly operated a string of clothing stores on the coast, dealing with Chinese, and were convicted of smuggling dope. One of the stores was in San Francisco.

All three were fined $5000 each several years ago on dope smuggling charges.

In 1922, Abe Scharlin was sued for $20,000 heart balm by Miss Mabel Orndorff, of Texas, but the suit was dropped.

Jack Scharlin still lives here. He had only heard of his brother's most recent experience through press dispatches, he said today.

with singing, and a prayer by Mrs. Ray. Mrs. Obershaw read from the fourth chapter of Zachariah. Mrs. Henry Dinan, recently elected as president to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Mrs. W. B. Glazner, conducted the business session. Among the various reports of committee chairmen, was that the month just ending had witnessed 58 calls made by members of the society and 60 bouquets sent to sick members and friends. Mrs. Charity Adams was welcomed as a new member.

Mrs. T. U. Oglesby and Henry Dinan, delegates to the annual conference of Woman's Missionary society at Los Angeles, gave splendid reports on proceedings. Among other items of interest was that of the cost of maintaining a missionary in foreign fields, which was $1425 a year, divided as follows: Travel, $425; salary, $750; language study, $150, and medical attention, $100.

The literary program was conducted by Mrs. Jones, with Mesdames Palmer and Speer assisting. The topic for discussion, "In our missionary program why should we give our major attention to the training of childhood."

Mother-Daughter Dinner

The Young People's Missionary Circle of the First Evangelical church sponsored a Mother and Daughter banquet last evening at the Y. M. C. A.

The following program was given: "Doxology for Mothers" by all present; prayer, Mrs. Cora Huston; violin duet, "Mothers' March," by Helen and Dorothy Chrea; "Sweet Adeline," by everyone; readings, "Mother of Five," Edgar Guest, by Helene Rubitz; solo, "Old Irish Mother of Mine," by Adele Lutz; reading, "An Old Face," Francisco Miller, by Vera Berner; duet, "Mother's Prayers have Followed Me," by Edna Holzgrafe and Ida Greenwald.

Miss Henrietta Deck, as speaker of the evening, gave a very interesting talk on "Mothers in China." Miss Deck is a returned missionary from China.

"Faith of Our Mothers," sung by everyone, completed an interesting evening at which eighty-four mothers and daughters were present.

The blue print process was invented by Rir John Herschel about the year 1842.

Remember Mother Next Sunday

Life is short and smiles are too rare. We cannot afford to miss a single one of them. And there are certain days that privilege us to bring smiles to the lips of friends and dear ones. Such a day is Mother's Day.

What an inexpensive pleasure the thoughtful card, the modest perfume bottle or cup and saucer c-o-operate in producing Mother Day smiles at a cost that is almost negligible.

County Shriners Hold Dutch Party in Anaheim

Shriners of Orange county present at the May social function of the Orange County Shrine club, held last night in Concordia hall, Anaheim, today were complimenting the club entertainment committee on the successful staging of one of the most novel social affairs in the history of the organization.

The committee drew on Holland for the background of its program, and the evening was initiated with a typical Dutch lunch, minus, however, 4 or 8 per cent beer. Weiners, sauerkraut, rye bread, Swiss cheese, sour pickles, near-beer and coffee comprised the menu.

Concordia hall offered an ideal location for an entertainment of this type, and small round tables, typical of a Holland lunch room, presented the opportunity for small groups to gather for social chat while discussing the Dutch dishes provided by the committee.

Execution of details of preparation and serving was in the hands of a committee of Anaheimers who are members of the club, and the committeemen carried the theme through to the point of decorating themselves with white aprons and simulating waiters of the lunch rooms of the foreign land.

The committee was composed of J. P. Probst, F. L. Benson, Frank E. (Dad) Valentine, Cornot Dunham, H. M. Miller, Thomas Haster and Ed. Marlon. J. O. Pyle, president of the club; Carl Mock, secretary, and C. J. Cogan, chairman of the general entertainment committee, participated in direction of the affair.

In announcing the party, officers of the club requested that members and their wives or guests appear in Dutch garb, but response to the request was made by only one couple, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Dillon, of Anaheim, who wore Dutch costumes, with wooden shoes.

Following the dinner hour, the revelers lost themselves in the maze of the waltz and modern dances to dreamy music provided by the Lewellyn orchestra of Anaheim. The dance program was enlivened by the introduction of the Paul Jones, men's pursuit, "Lemon" and "Ice" dances.

At conclusion of the evening President Pyle announced that on May 26 the club would hold a party at Balboa.

Business Women Will Hold Convention in Santa Monica

Among the first duties of Mrs. Laura Murray since her accession to the presidency of the Santa Ana Business and Professional Women's club, will be the making of delegates to the eighth annual convention of the Southern District California Federation B. and P. W., to be held in Santa Monica, June 10, 11 and 12.

Mrs. Murray was installed in office at a very delightful party given in St. Ann's last Monday night, with Miss Louise Kaiser, retiring president, and her board of directors in charge. She was to hold her first board meeting today, and the new staff of officers will be in charge next Monday at the regular noon luncheon at St. Ann's.

All the members will be interested in learning details of the annual convention, at which the Santa Monica Bay District B. and P. W., Miss Charlotte F. Corder, president, will be hostess club, and the Club Chateau at 1351 Ocean Front, will house the meetings.

Mrs. Florence Galentine, general chairman of the hostess club, has arranged a reception for Friday evening, a banquet Saturday night following the business meeting (which will include election of officers for the ensuing year) and a Sunday morning breakfast. Mrs. Lou LaBonge Whitcomb is also arranging an honor luncheon for Saturday.

Other details of the convention programs will be announced later. Interesting features will include the exhibits of club or individual members' work, or employer's activities of members. Reservations may be made for this exhibit, through Mrs. C. H. Peckham, 2341 Glencoe avenue, Venice.

Santa Ana members will be especially interested in the publicity scrapbook contest for the silver press cup. Details of the contest were given by Miss Lurline Schaefer, chairman, in the April number of the "California Woman." All club members in the southern district are eligible to enter this contest, which promises to be a very spirited one.

Committee chairman of the hostess club who will be responsible for various phases of convention activity, are Miss Bertha Buchanan, housing committee; Mrs. Mayme Greek, transportation, and Mrs. Celia Cleveland, information.

Young People Plan Program of Plays

Mrs. Arthur May entertained Wednesday night at a delightful bridge party given in her home at 809 South Birch street in honor of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Robbins, of Williamsburg, Penn., who have been spending several months in California.

Many lovely flowers were to be found in the living rooms of the May home. The color scheme which prevailed throughout the rooms was carried out later in the evening when refreshments were served at the card tables, each of which was centered with a small vase of sweet peas.

Those to receive gifts following the evening at cards were Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Bemis, holders of high score; Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Huffman, second high, and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Cox, low. Mr. and Mrs. Robbins received the guest prize.

SPRING'S CROWNING GLORY

To each of these ultra-smart chapeaux Dame Fashion has deftly touched her wand. Lace inserts soften the high crown of the beige felt at the upper left; the bob is simulated by the green feather turban at the upper right; at left below, a helmet crease across the crown and an earring on the right side enliven a blue visca for sports; and at the right below is a blue milan beret, with appliqued disks on a white felt front.

Spring may not mean complete new wardrobes for Milady, but it surely means a new hat! And it seems that this season, milliners have contrived to make the hats, real crowns of glory. Sizes in the main, are governed by restraint. There seems little doubt but that hats for summer will be big and floppy, but the chic hat for spring, is small.

Brims, where there are brims, take new turns to chic. Crowns seem to have lent themselves to the artistic imagination of milliners as ideal media for the execution of unusual and bizarre ideas. They appear with a wide variety of treatment.

Low Crowns Predominate

If crowns are high, they are softly draped or shaped. Lower crowns predominate. Many of them follow the shape of the head, fitting closely. The creative genius of the milliner is devoted to manipulating, folding, creasing, embozzing and combining several kinds of material in the execution of a new inspiration.

The cloche hat, the skull cap, the beret and many species of the turban are shown. Brims are kept within rather close latitude and always roll, turn, twist, tuck, or are cut and folded back. The hat with a brim turned down all around is indeed hard to find. If such a one appears its brim will surely be wider at the sides or wider in front.

Brims have fallen under the spell of milliners' craving for novelty, also. Some of them have clever shapings, assuming a double effect at the front with one layer twisting up into a bow at the narrow back. Others are slashed to give an original line that has dash and chic.

Straw Leads Materials

For materials the ubiquitous felt is running second to straws. The ballybunt and bangkok straws have an importance all their own, though pliable materials, like viscas and crocheted straws, can scarcely be over-emphasized. There is no dearth of other straws—milan, leghorn, panama, bengal and hair braids. Taffeta, supple satin, frills, ribbons and laces all appear combined with felt or straw.

Colors play an important part in millinery, as in the whole field of attire, this spring. Most hats have some contrast in their scheme, being definitely of two tones, or if wholly of one shade have a dash of ornament to give contrast. Pastel shades are important. Navy blue, black and beige are all good.

All Manner of Trimmings

Trimmings lose none of their importance through being made a definite part of the structure of the hat. They often are of self-material but tremendous variety is seen in their execution. Bows, of course, of grosgrain ribbon, of soft felt like the hat, of straw and even of maline appear. Flowers are blooming on larger summer hats. But jeweled ornaments, inserts of contrasting materials, stenciled designs and ribbons are best for spring trimmings.

Sports hats come more or less plain, depending on their color, texture, and smart shape for style. The turquoise visca shown today has a helmet crease from ear to ear across the crown and pipings of navy blue across tight, snug facing. A single pearl ornament lets one earring hang from the right side in the style of the earrings the bandits of old wore.

For Street Wear

Hats for street suit wear may be simple felts of unusual lines or they may be straw with intricate inserts and appliques of felt or other contrasting material. Also shown today is a smart beret of blue felt and milan, with the visor effect created by a fitted insert of white felt with circles of blue milan applied on it. A tight band of blue milan frames the face and a rhinestone and blue enameled ornament marks the center front.

For sheer chic this spring nothing can surpass the feather skull cap which is designed for matinees, for semi-final teas and dinner wear. Illustrated is a lovely model of gorgeous jade green feathers, whose ends curl onto the face becomingly, in the manner of the bob.

Entirely new and utterly charming is the beige felt hat here pictured which was designed for afternoon wear to top a smart beige coat with ombre clipped cone collar and reverses. The high crown utterly loses its severe tailored look by having beige lace inserted on both sides. The brim rolls from the face on the left side and disappears in the back where the beige and brown grosgrain ribbon banding ends in a cute bow.

Brazil was originally called Terra de Brasil, or land of red-dye wood.

Very little business was transacted, the evening instead, being given over to the story program and a social time. Mrs. Marshall Harnois presented a very able essay titled "The Urge to Write," and Mrs. Wells offered her revised story, "Lure of the Desert," which all were agreed, was extremely interesting.

A friendly discussion of the story and essay followed and then the usual social hour was enjoyed. Mrs. Wells and Miss Wells served a delicious gelatin dessert with coffee and tea.

Kimes of Enid, Okla., who has arrived to spend the summer in Santa Ana, and Miss Lucy Agar were guests of the evening, while members enjoying the hospital of mother and daughter, were Mrs. J. F. Young Matron Honors Visiting Parents With Party

In recognition of Mother's Day, young people of the Congregational church are presenting two entertaining plays Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock, in the church auditorium, "Autumn Blooming," expressing the spirit of Mother's day, and "Dust of the Road," a depiction of Judas some 2000 years after his betrayal of Christ, are the two plays which are being rehearsed under the capable direction of Estelle Card Beeman.

In "Autumn Blooming," the tale is told of a self-sacrificing mother, who arouses to how her sacrifices are training her children in selflessness, and who decides to use her income to see the world, sending her children a spray of autumn apple blossoms with the message "These blossoms too late to amount to much, but that is better than not blooming at all."

Miss Dorothy Haynes will enact the role of the mother, "Mrs. Spiller," while Lyle Forman, Josephine Hoffman and Hugh Hicks will be "Robert, Gertrude and Shelton Spiller." Virginia Powell will play "Miss Purdy," and the role of "Janet," the maid, will be played by Mary Bruner.

"Dust of the Road" gives a sermon on honesty, and is the story of Peter Steele to whom had been entrusted a large sum of money by a friend who was going into service in the war. The plot developments when the soldier did not return, and it was time to turn his fortune over to his son, offer a splendid study, and the appearance of Judas in the guise of a tramp, gives some beautifully poetic features.

"Peter Steele" is to be played by Will Homan, while Miss Helen Drake will take the part of Prudence Steele; Leon McMullen will play Prudence's uncle and the important role of the tramp will be given by C. C. Stewart.

Proceeds from a silver offering will be added to the fund for sending some of the young people of the church to the Pomona college conference in June.

The Fifth Household Economics section of Ebbs society, will meet for a 1 o'clock luncheon, Tuesday, May 10, with Mrs. Calvin Powers and Mrs. Edward Walker as hostesses at the clubhouse. Those unable to be present are asked to telephone Mrs. Walker at 2620-W.

A program of solos and choruses, sketches and readings will be given, and Ernest Crozier Phillips, Merle Ramsay and the Misses Ramsay are among those who are expected to take part. FARM BUREAU DIRECTORS ASK
TRAINED SPECIALIST NAMED AS STATE AGRICULTURE HEAD

Passing a resolution requesting Governor C. C. Young to appoint same man cognizant with the needs of agriculture and possibly one possessing a training in entomology and quarantine regulations, as the director of the department of agriculture, marked the close of the meeting of the directors of the Orange County Farm Bureau, held in the Hall of Records yesterday. The resolution sets forth the fact that because no appointment of director of agriculture has been made the future activities of this important office are surrounded in doubt and uncertainty. The farmers believe that this indefinite arrangement is not for the best interest of agriculture and the governor should settle the question, the directors said.

AUTO CRASHES INTO TREE: TWO ARE INJURED

W. B. Ashford, of the Radio Den, and Arthur H. Gritton, of the Ford contracting company, were at their respective homes today recovering from injuries received at 1 o'clock this morning when a car in which they were riding crashed into a walnut tree on the ranch of R. L. Blanchard, West Orange.

Ashford is suffering from an injury to his nose and one of his knees and Gritton has painful chest injuries. Neither suffered broken bones.

The accident happened at the first turn on Flower street south of Chapman street. Gritton was driving, and approached the turn at a rapid speed, reaching the corner quicker than he expected. Applying the brake, he succeeded in checking the speed of the machine and had partially completed the turn when, in fear of the machine turning over, he straightened the car and headed into the walnut orchard.

The machine was running at approximately 20 miles an hour when it crashed nose first into the tree. The force of the impact threw Gritton against the steering wheel, crushing the wheel. Ashford was thrown against the lower part of the windshield, striking on his nose.

Both men were able to get out of the car and go to the home of Blanchard. The horn became shorted and continuous blowing aroused Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard and they at once gave assistance to the injured men, later driving them to their homes. Ashford resides at 833 North Van Ness and Gritton at 1104 East Fourth street. The car, the property of Gritton, was wrecked.

Ashford and Gritton were returning from Pomona where they had been attending a meeting of the board of directors of the Valley of the Moon company, owner of a subdivision in the San Bernardino mountains.

John Osterman, vice president of the Farm Bureau, presided over the meeting of the directors, which occupied a full day's proceeding.

The question of holding the annual Farm Bureau picnic was discussed to some length and it was finally decided to refer the matter to the different Farm Centers with the understanding that the picnic would not be held except with their approval, and in the event that the Farm Centers would agree to provide a part of the entertainment. It was suggested that each community put on a short stunt at the picnic. No definite time for holding this big event was set, but it may be held July 4.

The Farm Bureau also decided to co-operate with the state organization in the observance of May 31 as Farm Bureau Day. The request has been issued for all Farm Bureau members to honor that day by securing another member to the local Farm Bureau. This day will conclude the active membership campaign of the Farm Bureau but it was pointed out that members would be received at any time, and that the enthusiastic supporters of the organization would continue their efforts in building up the Farm Bureau.

The secretary was also instructed to undertake the new project of analyzing the supply of irrigation water. It was suggested that there was a possibility of irrigation water becoming contaminated by seepage from oil wells and extensive land washing in the upper reaches of the Santa Ana river. Analysis of the water supply will be made and recorded for future reference. The junior colleges will be solicited to assist in this survey, and they will be asked to have the students sample the water from time to time in the future and check it for possible contamination.

The forestry committee of the Farm Bureau was instructed to take immediate steps toward organizing a forest fire fighting brigade in which picked men will be trained to take over the management of forest fire fighting in case of a conflagration. This organization will co-operate with the county fire warden and other agencies and will create a voluntary trained machine for combating forest fires.

In order to conserve the time of the secretary, he was instructed to observe a policy of extending service of the Farm Bureau, particularly in regards to public utilities and water conservation, to requests coming in from members of the organization. No hard and fast line will be drawn in this respect as many of the requests coming from non-members often rectify an evil to the betterment of the organization and agriculture as a whole.

Arrangements were also laid during the meeting for a big meeting at the La Habra Farm Center on June 16, at which time Alex Johnson, secretary of the California Farm Bureau Federation, will make his first visit to Orange county. Mr. Johnson is one of the best informed men in California on the agricultural needs of the state and his contemplated address is creating considerable interest.

FOXTROTTERS BAN
HIGH SPEED JAZZ

LONDON, May 6.—High speed jazz is on the black list in certain quarters. Dancers have revolted against syncopation at the rate of sixty to eighty beats a minute and have organized to reform matters more to their liking.

The "Ancient Order of Foxtrotters" has been organized to combat it and several raids have already been made on cafes and dance halls where high speed musicians held sway. The "dancing delegates" behind the move for slower tempo adopted the usual tactics of the "walking delegates" and set forth their views in speech and song.

So popular is the order's slogan of "Forty-eight Beats per Minute" that the organization has been growing at the rate of more than 600 members a week.

The subscription is five shillings, of which two shillings, sixpence goes to charity.

News of a dance hall's "conversion" is quickly advertised among "friends of the order."

Rushing Work On Telephone Lines

Work on the installation of 130 miles of telephone wire between Anaheim and Riverside is more than 15 per cent completed, according to E. S. Morrow, local manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company. The wire and associated equipment is costing approximately $18,700.

Manager Morrow stated that 100 telephone poles are to be replaced and that 1600 cross arms are to be installed. The work is to be completed in July, according to present plans.

A synthetic turkey, made of roast nuts, mushrooms, milk and eggs, was the central dish at the Christmas dinner of the London Vegetarian society.

CAPT. ADAMS TO SPEAK BEFORE
C. OF C. GROUP

Capt. Roger K. Adams, commodore of the Hollywood Aero club, will be the principal speaker at the dinner meeting Monday evening of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, at Ketter's cafe, beginning at 6:30 p. m. Cecil "Cy" Featherly, chairman of the entertainment committee, announced today.

Capt. Adams will detail the plans for the air meet to be held in Santa Ana July 2 to 9 under the auspices of the Hollywood Aero club, the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, and the Santa Ana Air club. The final leases in connection with the meet will have been signed before Monday, Adams informed Featherly, and he will be at liberty to make a full statement as to the plans and purposes of the huge sky carnival.

Featherly has also arranged a short musical and vaudeville program. President Bob Fernandez said a number of important projects would be considered in the business session following the speech by Capt. Adams.

Biscuits and bread made from the new lima bean flour will be featured on the meal served by the cafe.

LOCAL ASTRONOMERS
WILL VIEW VENUS

Astronomy students of the Santa Ana junior college will have a chance to view Venus, companion planet of the earth, through the huge 100-inch telescope at the Mt. Wilson observatory tonight in their annual visit arranged by Miss Jennie B. Lasby, instructor.

About 50 students left this morning on the trip.

The class was to be shown through the observatory today and the telescope pointed to the sun to see the peculiar sun spots. At night, the planet Venus and the moon will be visible. The phenomenon of the heavens will be shown the students.

Each year the astronomy students make their star gazing pilgrimages to Mt. Wilson. A small telescope located on the top of the college building, is owned by the school but it has not been in use this year because of need for repairs. For that reason, the students have been anticipating the Mt. Wilson visit.

FIERY CROSSES OF
K.K.K. BURN TONIGHT

Keeping its promise made a week ago that a message was on the way, the Ku Klux Klan today announced through little orange colored posters, tacked up in Santa Ana, that 1,000 fiery crosses would be burned tonight "as a signal of peace to all the world."

The poster did not state where the crosses would be burned, but stated "at 9 o'clock, 1000 pillars of fire will leap heavenward."

The poster read as follows: "K. K. K. 'Hands Off'! On the night of May 6 a thousand fiery crosses will send the signal of peace to all the world. At nine o'clock sharp, one thousand pillars of fire will leap heavenward. Give Mexico the right to attend to her own affairs. Onward Christian soldiers for God and Native Land. Let there be no war."

The appearance of the posters today was as mysterious as the ones announcing the message a week ago.

Those fined yesterday were: E. J. Miller, $2; E. J. Mallory, $2; and R. E. Couch, $2.

Trial Date Set

The second trial of William Linebarger, Brea man charged with a statutory offense, was today set for May 23, 24 and 25 in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court. A jury at the first trial disagreed.

Pronounced Insane

Glenn Vaughn, 26, of Orange, who pleaded guilty to a charge involving a statutory offense against a 14-year-old girl at Orange, was today examined by a lunacy commission in superior court and was pronounced insane.

Commitment of Vaughn to the Norwalk hospital was expected this afternoon, following his scheduled appearance before Judge Homer G. Ames for sentence in connection with the statutory charge. It was reported that the procedure in Vaughn's case would be withdrawal of the plea of guilty, application for probation, which would be granted, and then commitment to the Norwalk hospital.

Chief Deputy District Attorney L. W. Blodgett, and L. F. Coburn, counsel for Vaughn, attended the lunacy examination today.

Charged with speeding 54 miles an hour on April 3, F. J. Adams, 603 Berendo street, Los Angeles, former deputy county clerk of Los Angeles, gained a continuance of his case in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today, after Adams had pleaded guilty to the charge. Morrison said he wanted a week in which to investigate the circumstances connected with the arrest.

Orders Briefs

The case of the Leach Realty company against E. Parker and Alice T. Parker, involving a claim of $2700 as a realty commission in connection with the sale of the "Tea and Tiffin" cafe at the corner of Coast boulevard and Laguna avenue, Laguna Beach, was ordered submitted on briefs by Superior Judge E. J. Marks last yesterday. The suit has been on trial for several days.

Desertion Charged

Charging desertion, Mrs. Amy D. Hider has filed suit in superior court for divorce from Andrew J. Hider. The couple were married at Crossville, Tennessee, in 1906, and separated in 1925. Albert Launer, Fullerton attorney, represents the plaintiff.

Seeks Divorce

Objecting to being "rough-housed" by her husband, as she alleges, and also accusing him of calling her vile names, Mrs. Valada Viola Paquette Papillo, of Brea, sued her husband, Louis Luigi Nick Papillo for divorce. Her complaint was on file today in superior court. George H. Gobart, Fullerton attorney, represents Mrs. Papillo.

Bees the decree, she asks custody of her little daughter and demands the award of community property, including a nursery at 108 East Date street, Brea. Papillo is a night watchman for an oil company at Brea.

Bequeathed Estate

Two sons, Leo A. Clapp, of 2133 East Seventh street, Long Beach, and Lowell M. Clapp, of Kalamazoo, Michigan, were bequeathed the $8000 estate left by their mother, Mrs. Melora T. Clapp, who died April 25, according to a petition to probate the will, filed today in superior court by F. C. Drumm, of Santa Ana.

The estate consists of notes and mortgages.

Letters Asked

The late Joseph Egger, Santa Ana tailor, who was found dead in his bed yesterday morning, left an estate valued at $1500. It was stated in a petition for letters of administration filed today in superior court. The names and addresses of heirs, if any, are unknown, the petition states.

$15,000 Estate

The late Mrs. Elta May Payan, of Olive, left an estate valued at $15,000, according to a petition for letters of administration just filed in superior court by her husband, M. D. Payan. The estate consists of a five-acre citrus grove in Olive.

Heirs of Mrs. Payan include the husband and four children, Mrs. Florence Mathews, of Brea; Royer C. Payan, of Anaheim; Eulalie Russell, of Anaheim, and Virgil Payan, of Olive.

Attorney F. C. Drumm represents the petitioner.

WILKINSON INQUEST HELD LATE TODAY

A coroner's jury will this afternoon determine the cause of death of Mrs. Georgia Ruth Wilkinson, 24, who died in the Santa Ana Valley hospital Wednesday from poisoning, self administered several days after she is reported to have swallowed 23 tablets of bichloride of mercury at the home of her father, George A. Robinson, 907 West Highland avenue. She was a visitor at the home at the time, from Shreveport, La.

The husband of Mrs. Wilkinson was in Shreveport at the time and was hurriedly summoned. He is expected to testify at the inquest this afternoon.

A letter received from the husband a week ago was said to have been a disappointment to Mrs. Wilkinson and this was produced as a motive for her act.

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning from the Winbigler Mission Funeral home and burial will be made in the Alamitos cemetery, near Westminster.

STATE LEGION LETTER TELLS AUXILIARY HEAD OF FLOODS IN TO VISIT HERE ARKANSAS CITY

Mrs. Elizabeth Drendell, state president of the American Legion auxiliary, will visit Santa Ana on June 2, according to an announcement made last night by President Josephine Lykke.

It was reported that $80 was made on the jamboree dinner, the proceeds of which were turned over to the Boy Scout committee. Another dinner will be held Monday night, May 9, when all jamboree committees and scoutmasters are expected to be present.

It was decided to hold a card party in the first week of June. Discussion was led by Gertrude Collier, chairman of the finance committee.

Ten dollars was donated to the Mississippi Red Cross relief fund. It also was announced that the proceeds from the sale of punch at tonight's dance will be added to the donation.

The social hour following the business session was held in honor of Miss Julia Magill and Miss Pearl Magill who plan to leave for France May 21. Each one was presented with a scarf made by the men at the San Fernando hospital, by Mrs. Fannie Reeves on behalf of the auxiliary.

Mrs. Gertrude Whitney, past president of Santa Ana unit and second vice president of the state, was an honored guest also.

The entertainment committee presented, Herschel Clayton in three vocal numbers with Harry Garstang accompanying him on the piano. Mrs. Eleanor Elliott gave three readings and the auxiliary glee club sang several selections, as did the quartet. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the hour.

One hundred white persons are left in the flooded town of Clarendon, Ark., and they are having difficulty in getting food, according to a letter received here today by Mrs. W. B. Ashford from her mother, Mrs. William Stevens, of the Arkansas city.

Clarendon is on White River and is flooded by water from the Mississippi river.

At the time the letter was written the city was under 14 feet of water and Mrs. Stevens and other members of her family were living in the second story of her residence.

In her letter to her daughter here, Mrs. Stevens recites the sight from her window of horses, cows and other dead animals floating past her place.

Three miles out from Clarendon a camp has been established for negroes, and Mrs. Stevens recounts the efforts of her son, Mark Stevens, employed by the St. Louis and Southwestern Railroad company, to get a bit of meat at the colony.

He is the owner of a gasoline launch, and he piloted the launch to the negro colony and sought to buy a small piece of meat.

"We need all we have to supply the needs of the members of the camp," he was told by those in charge.

The court house and the high school, both located on high ground, are the only points in the city not under water. The letter recited that Mrs. Stevens could see from her place of vantage 35 negro shacks lodged against the railroad depot.

COUNTY WILL SAVE $5000 ANNUALLY BY CO-OPERATIVE BUYING OF SCHOOL SUPPLIES

A saving of $5000 per annum of the taxpayers' money will result from co-operative purchasing of standard school supplies and equipment for the various grammar school districts in the county, according to a report of the county board of education, which method of purchasing is provided for in Assembly bill 119, passed by both houses of the legislature and signed by the governor, in the opinion of R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools.

Ways and means for carrying the provisions of the bill into effect will be considered at the next regular meeting of the county board of education. It was explained, however, that inasmuch as most of the supplies needed for the current school year already have been procured, the new method of purchasing will not be used until the opening of schools next September.

The new law, designated as section 1780 of the political code, provides that the county board of education may, on or after the first day of February, 1927, and must, on or before the first day of February of each ensuing year, establish rules and regulations whereby elementary school districts governed by school trustees shall purchase standard school supplies and equipment through the county superintendent of schools, or when so directed by him, through a county purchasing agent. The county board of education shall list as standard school supplies and equipment such supplies and equipment as can be advantageously purchased in quantity.

The law provides, however, that city boards of education, like that of the city of Santa Ana, as well as all high school boards, may take advantage of the county co-operative plan, or purchase their own supplies.

Particular interest attaches itself to the legislation just enacted because of the fact that Orange county under direction of County Superintendent R. P. Mitchell was among the first in the state to adopt the co-operative plan, thus saving the taxpayers thousands of dollars each year. As a result of the savings effected under this plan, its fame spread to other counties, which in turn addressed inquiries to Superintendent Mitchell requesting further details.

CONFERENCE ON PARKING LAWS IS POSTPONED

The conference of business men and the city council for discussion of parking regulations, arranged for Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, has been postponed for one week, it was announced today by Stanley Goode, street commissioner on the city council.

The date was deferred at the request of E. R. Ruddy, secretary of the Business Men's association, who disclosed plans for circulating business men with a questionnaire in order to ascertain sentiment with reference to proposed changes in the ordinance controlling motor traffic in the city.

Ruddy said today that parking is an important question and one in which every business man in the city is deeply interested, and for this reason it was his purpose to get an individual expression from members of his organization, so that intelligent consideration of the wishes of the business men might be had at the conference with the council on the subject at 3 p. m., Monday, May 16.

The secretary today mailed the following questionnaire to members of the association, with request that questions be answered in time for collection Tuesday, May 10:

"Do you consider the present two-hour street parking limit favorable to your business?"

"What change would you recommend—one-half hour, one hour, three hours, no restrictions?"

"Should the business men and their employees park their private cars beyond the restricted area, would you consider that the present time limit was adequate?"

"Would you insist that this be done as regards yourself and your employees?"

"Would the change which you have designated be favorable to all business interests in your block?"

"Do you consider courtesy cards to visitors a good business plan?"

"Do you load from the street?"

"Is your loading place now designated as a loading zone?"

"How many stalls does it cover?—1, 2 or 3?"

"Do you believe that this space should be without restrictions as to loading time?"

"Do you load from an alley?"

"Do you or your employees park their private cars in the alley from which you load?"

"Do you consider that business interests in your block would be better served if this practice were not permitted?"

OLD RESIDENTS TO PICNIC SATURDAY

Assemblyman Dr. C. D. Ball, Jonathan Tibbitts, George Mmerfe, Ed Larter, Ben Graemer and other old time residents of Orange county will be speakers tomorrow at the picnic at Orange County park sponsored by the citizenship department of the Orange County Parent-Teachers association, it was announced today.

George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, will also speak.

The pavilion at the park has been reserved for the afternoon and it is here that the program arranged by the committees in charge will be presented. The program will include songs and "fiddle" music that were popular 40 years ago.

Mrs. Carl Seamans and her brother, Walter Moore, who are favorite musical artists over the radio, will render their popular old-time music.

The association will provide coffee, sugar and cream for the lunch, which will take the form of a pot luck lunch.

HIGH SCHOOLS OF COUNTY TO SING AT BEACH IN MUSIC FETE

More Than 700 Students to Take Part in Events Today in H. S. Auditorium

SANTA ANA BAND PLAYS TONIGHT

Newly Formed Cantando Club and Lions Club Quartet on Program

A gigantic music festival featuring selections by practically every musical organization in Orange county high schools is being held at the Huntington Beach high school today, bringing to a close National Music week.

More than 700 high school students of the county are co-operating in the musical program, which was planned some time ago by music teachers of Orange county high schools. Plans for the affair were arranged by Miss Phyllis Keyes, instructor of music at the Orange high school, and by Mrs. Ruth M. Harlow, head of the music department of Huntington Beach high school.

Eight Orange county high schools will supply the program during the morning and afternoon and a special program is to be presented at the Huntington Beach high school auditorium tonight featuring the Huntington Beach municipal band in its first appearance of the season; the Santa Ana Cantando club and the Santa Ana Lions club quartet.

The music festival is the first ever to be held in Orange county and is one of the most unique events ever held.

One of the features of the afternoon program is the singing of "Rain," by the united girls glee clubs from all Orange county high schools. The concerted glee clubs will be directed by John Smallman, director of the Los Angeles Oratorio society, and of the Smallman A. Capella club of Los Angeles.

It is one of the best known song programs in Southern California. The program opened at 9:30 o'clock this morning with music by high school orchestras. At 11:15 a. m. music was presented by the Anaheim and Fullerton high school bands. Girls and boys glee clubs from eight Orange county high schools opened the afternoon program at 1:15 o'clock.

The Huntington Beach high school auditorium was crowded to capacity this morning.

The program tonight will be of unusual distinction. Members of the Santa Ana Lions club quartet who will sing are, Lyle Anderson, Dr. E. H. Rowland, Fred Wilde and Bruce Monroe. E. M. Sundquist is the accompanist. The Santa Ana Cantando club will be heard under the direction of Leon Eckles. L. L. Gilmore, is director of the Huntington Beach Municipal band.

Florida Girls Ask Data On Packing Contest

That news travels fast is evidenced from a letter received by George W. Reid, manager of the seventh annual California Valencia Orange Show to be held at Anaheim May 19-28, from two orange packers in Florida requesting information regarding the first world orange packing contest, one of the big features of the show.

The girls, who live near Orlando, had heard of the contest and wanted to know whether entries were still being received and what rules would govern the big test.

While neither packer had been in any contest they declared that they believed they were qualified, and considered seriously of journeying to California to pit their skill against the teams entered from this state.

ENLARGE PLANT AT CORONA FOR LEMON PROCESS

It is estimated that lemon products companies operating in California, handled, from November 1 to April 1, approximately 40,000 tons or more than 2,600 cars of lemons, and during March alone processed around 750 cars, which is more than the average yearly volume of a few years ago, according to recent report of Manager H. M. May of Corona to the directors of the California Fruit Growers Exchange.

May stated that the two Corona plants are running three shifts a day, seven days a week, and that arrangements had been made for rental of some of the facilities of the Exchange Orange Products plant at Ontario, in order that fruit offered by the members for lemon by-products could be promptly handled.

This season to date has seen the greatest amount of early lemons ever produced in California, and although shipments of fresh fruit to eastern markets are away ahead of any previous season, still the by-products facilities owned by the growers have been "life savers," in that they furnish an outlet and some return for surplus, lower grade fruit. Total shipments of California lemons from November 1 to April 1 this year are 4,554 cars, more than 600 cars ahead of the previous largest season of 1926.

Chances are that California will not have another winter lemon production equal to this one for a number of years, if ever, and lemon growers are united in the hope that old Mother Nature will not play another such trick on them. With all this surplus of the past few months, it is altogether probable that there will be no surplus of good lemons during the peak of the summer demand, and should lemon growers be favored by a hot weather market for any length of time, there will, of course, be a ready demand for heavy shipments at favorable prices.

Government statistics show that the United States consumes annually about 6,000,000 pounds of citric acid, which is a staple commodity.

CIVIC CENTER AND PARK PLAN ARE DISCUSSED

Secretary of Santa Ana Planning Commission in Statement on Projects

By MRS. CLARA CUSHMAN (Secretary of the Santa Ana Planning Commission)

"Why isn't the planning commission doing something about parks?" comes the complaint. "And why isn't it doing anything about a civic center for Santa Ana? Those are the things that interested people. They don't care about your highways and your zoning. It's parks and an auditorium that the city needs most."

The answer to this very proper and practical question is, that the planning commission is doing something about parks, and it is doing something about a civic center. It is planning for a park system and for a civic center, and when its plans are entirely completed, they will be presented for discussion and for the approval and disapproval of the public. The matter of a civic center will probably be presented first.

The first step in a park plan or a civic center plan is not voting bonds to secure them, but rather it is in deciding such questions as where the parks and the civic center shall be located, what they shall be used for, how much ground is essential for the purposes to which they are dedicated, what designs will suit the natural and historical background, how much the schemes will cost when completed according to design; and last and vitally important, are the plans consistent with the condition of the city treasury—how are the plans to be financed?

Projects Require Expert Advice These questions take time and call for experienced advice. And it is for the purpose of obtaining such expert advice and collection of necessary data that a planning consultant has been employed by Santa Ana.

When the zoning ordinance was formulated, the planning commission took its first definite and necessary step in making a park plan and a civic center plan. In its present occupation with the highway and traffic plan, it is taking another necessary step. For a zoned city, and a highway and traffic plan showing future regulations which may be depended upon, are fundamental needs in locating parks and civic centers.

We have publicly groaned over our one small park, over the crowded condition of our library, over our lack of a civic auditorium. We once thought that one small square on Sycamore street between Fifth and Church—and it seemed a large and generous square then—would contain all our needs in the way of civic buildings for years to come. We thought a major traffic street, lying directly in the path of future major traffic, a suitable place to locate a library or a city hall, a large enough piece of ground for aesthetic and utility purposes had been secured then.

These early errors were wholly excusable. We had hardly heard of city plans then, or of professional city planners. The civic responsibility of this generation to future generations is far greater, as our opportunities are greater, and we have examples of expert

COLORFUL PROGRAM OF SPANISH SONGS AND DANCES TO BE GIVEN AS FIFTH MUSIC WEEK EVENT TONIGHT

Upper left, Hortensia Daniels, mezzo-soprano; right, Faustina Lucero, Spanish dancer; lower left, Eduardo Delgado, baritone; lower center, Adolfo Giron, pianist and composer; lower right, Solita De Yo, Spanish dancer, all of whom will take part in the Spanish program in celebration of music week at the high school auditorium tonight.

Senoritas in Bright Dresses Of Old Spain Will Act As Guides to Seats

Several hours of typical Spanish entertainment, offered by the most talented of the Santa Ana Spanish-speaking people, will be the attraction tonight in the fifth evening program in celebration of national music week, and one of the largest audiences of the entire week is expected to gather at the high school auditorium to enjoy the numbers.

The program, arranged by Sol Gonzales, includes singing, dancing, orchestra music, group and solo numbers. The community singing, a feature of music week, will precede the program.

One of the leading artists of the evening will be Adolfo E. Giron, pianist and composer, who has appeared in concert in many cities of the United States. Many of his compositions have been recorded for use on the phonograph. The officials of the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra have invited him to be guest composer in the near future, Gonzales said.

Senorita Hortensia Daniels, of Anaheim, well known mezzo-soprano, will sing three times during the evening, accompanied by Miss Ruth Frothingham at the piano. Senorita Daniels has been given enthusiastic applause on her many appearances in Orange county and Southern California and is expected to repeat her past triumphs.

Senorita Faustina Lucero, accompanied by the tipica orchestra will dance "Jarabe Tapatia" and "Cielo Andaluz." Senorita Lucero represented the City of Los Angeles at the sesqui-centennial exposition and is probably one of the best known Spanish dancers on the coast.

Eduardo Delgado, baritone, will sing four times, accompanied by Madame Manuela Budrow and Miss Frothingham, respectively. He is very favorably known for his singing in Orange county.

Spanish señoritas, dressed in bright costumes, will usher. Two boys in the costume of caballeros will distribute programs. The ushers will be Gloria Delgado, Delphine Lopez, Ramoncita Valencia and Salia Robles, Henry Delgado and George Sepulveda, will be dressed as caballeros. The community singing will begin at 7:45, under the leadership of Eduardo Delgado.

SPURGEON SCHOOL CHILDREN CELEBRATE HEALTH DAY WITH PARADE AND QUEEN CROWNING

Hundreds of parents and friends of the children of Spurgeon school viewed the exhibits of school and home work and witnessed the recent Health day program. Each class room was made attractive with specimens of work completed during the year. The halls were transformed into exhibits of very fine home work. There was embroidery, cakes, candy, vegetables, flowers, art work, wood work, and out-of-doors was an exhibit of pets. Many children received first prize blue ribbons on their exhibits.

The program was a health parade, in which over 200 children of the upper grades participated. The parade was an exercise worked out by the hygiene classes, under the direction of Miss Clara Blesener. Each class had entered a miniature float which was carried by four boys and two girls, each carrying a large poster bearing a health slogan. There were 20 sections, including six floats, the queen of health with her pages, flower girls, and fairies, and the May pole dancers.

The queen of health was Betty Martin, who was elected by her schoolmates. She was lovely in a n orchid orchid dress, with a queenly collar of tulle and train of orchid net. Her crown was of Cecil Brunner roses. Irene Wycoff, one of the fairies, crowned the queen and Clyde Patmor and Muriel Hollman acted as her pages.

The parade took place on the school grounds in back of the school house. The name of the children and the sections in the parade follow:

Brownie carrying "Health Parade" banner—Jack Boyd; Boy Scouts with colors—Harry Reed, Dick Cocking, Alvin Edwards; Brownies: Clyde Files, Richard Phillips, Robert Echols, Gale York, Jack Laughlin.

GETTING NEXT TO MEN Always Clouds Up When Straw Hats Bloom!

The sun has a most exasperating habit of retiring beyond the privacy of "high fog" every year at exactly twelve hours previous to Vandermast's straw hat opening. The afternoon may be ever so summery and warm, and our announcement and windows will be ever so inviting, and then the morning of mornings creeps in dull and shivering and a new summer straw hat is the last thing in the world you want to worry about. However, gray skies do not dim the brilliance of the Vandermast straw hat displays and we are content to wait upon the sun's pleasure to give you the urge.

Friday, the 13th, a week from today, is the last day of grace for felts. We warn you we are concentrating our thoughts on a sweltering sunshine for that day.

Panamas are the thing this year. The genuine Panamas are $5 and more at Vandermast's, with Toyos at $3 and $3.50.

Have you given your bit toward the Mississippi flood relief? They are our own people in black despair; they need us now.

No city has ever accomplished more in the interests of music, in proportion to its size, than Santa Ana has this week. "Music Week," a great credit to the moving spirits.

Half the effect of a man's appearance is in the furnishings. They are the difference between success and mediocrity in the whole turn-out. The best thought is to pick up a shirt in a color that harmonizes with the suit. If the suit is a bright and gay pattern, balance the effect with a tie of a subdued shade. With a dark suit, wear regimental stripes or other bold and brilliant pattern. The hat is a special study in itself; best to rely upon your hat expert, who knows this subject very well.

Beautiful Shirts, the new ones. The Eagle, Grayco and Brunson. At $2, $2.50 and up to $5.

The new summer displays of boys' Kaynee-wash suits, shirts and blouses, are good to look at—and to buy.

Lisle hose are most comfortable in warm weather—Interwoven lises.

Double your expectations will be derived from Vandermast's variety of $35 suits. This is a happy price, just medium, and all of the new college and more subdued styles are found in this group. There are new lapel lines this year that go far toward making the appearance distinctive. Style is an elusive thing, even in many expensive suits, but it is a great feature of Vandermast's new $35 suits. This seems to be to the bottom of the column, so we'll write "Vandermast & Son, 110 East Fourth St.," and sign off that way.

Lord Birkenhead Income Topic of Press Discussion

LONDON, May 6.—Lord Birkenhead and other members of the government have been under fire for some time because they engage in journalism while in office. In a recent speech Lord Birkenhead said he took to journalism to supplement "flagging resources."

This statement was taken up by a writer in The Star who computes that during the last 12 years Lord Birkenhead, as solicitor-General, attorney general, Lord chancellor and secretary for India, has received "something like £130,000" from the government. That is nearly $850,000, or more than $50,000 a year.

The writer in The Star remarks that this does not take into account Lord Birkenhead's earnings through private legal practice, which are supposed to be enormous.

ARGENTINE ANT DISCUSSED AT GROWERS MEET

The Argentine ant wins the arsenic syrup.

Multifarious ramifications of "The Battle of the Bugs" on the one hand, and of Southern California's citrus growers against a portion of the bugs, on the other, were outlined today at Yuba Linda.

Prof. Harry F. Smith, chief entomologist of the Riverside experiment station, whose pest control research is saving growers incalculable sums yearly, explained to a group of northern Orange county pomologists the latest methods of feeding arsenic to the Argentine ant.

Experts explain that the Argentine ant is not properly classified as an orchard pest. However, because of its habits of acquiring and protecting its food supply it is looked upon with keen disfavor by the owners of Valencia orchards.

The ant regards "honey dew" a substance excreted by the "mealy bug" and aphids, the citrus industry's two chief insect pests, as a great delicacy.

With uncanny sagacity, the ant wages war on whatever insects destroy the source of its favorite "tipple." In the latter class belong the common California ladybird beetle and "cryptolaeus," beneficial insects that destroy the "mealy bug" and aphids.

Prof. Smith will demonstrate the best methods of using the drug.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, May 6.—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Huff were hosts at a dinner party yesterday, honoring Mrs. Huff's mother, Mrs. H. A. Gallienne, of Huntington Beach, who leaves this week for Sacramento as a representative of the Rebecca Lodge of Huntington Beach. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Gallienne, of Huntington Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Will Gallienne and two children, of Santa Ana, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Huff and family.

Mrs. J. P. Ranney and children, Jimmie Jr., and Doris, went on a sightseeing trip to Montebello, Tuesday.

The Willing Workers society, of Wintersburg, met Wednesday for an all-day social at the home of Mrs. Arthur Jones, of Bolsa. Officers were elected for the coming year. Mrs. Harriette Dowty was re-elected president of the society. Mrs. Arthur Eby was elected treasurer. Seven members present gave $1 each into the treasury and $5 was voted to go to the Mississippi valley relief fund. The next meeting is Mrs. Fred McIntee, of Costa Mesa, who will entertain the society at a beach party at Balboa. Attending from Wintersburg were Mrs. Harriette Dowty, Mrs. Mary Hodgins, Mrs. George Hickman, Mrs. Mills Cowling, Mrs. Arthur Eby, Mrs. Frank Spears, Mrs. Ed Woods, Mrs. Frank Ingersoll and Mrs. Mark Keutns and her niece, Miss Ethel Cox, of Montebello.

Mrs. Homer Anderson, who has been visiting in Stockton with her mother, has returned.

Winifred Snasdell was the honor guest at a party given Wednesday, in honor of her ninth birthday anniversary. Decorations were in pink. Games were played during the afternoon and refreshments were served by Mrs. Snasdell. Among those present were Winifred Snasdell, Shirley Smith, Ruth Ingersoll, Susie Vawsey, Barbara Graves, Edna Marguerite Van Meter, Walter Eby, Chris Snasdell, Audrey Hoke, and Robert Hoke. Wednesday evening a birthday dinner was given by Mrs. Snasdell for her daughter, the guests being Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Hoke and children, Audrey and Robert. Homer Dowty, son of Mrs. Harriette Dowty, was married Monday to Mrs. Grace Bundy, of Huntington Beach. The couple were married by the Rev. S. J. Rogers, pastor of the Methodist church of Huntington Beach, in which city the young couple are at present making their home.

Mrs. J. P. Ranney has received news that her sister, Mrs. B. Baker, who recently underwent an operation of a serious nature at a Santa Barbara hospital, is recovering.

In the absence of the leader, Mrs. J. W. McIntosh, Mrs. R. A. Shostag took charge of the Bible study class Wednesday afternoon. The subject was "The Power of God." The class was composed of Mrs. Shostag, Mrs. W. E. Slater, Mrs. Lillie Slater, Mrs. Sherman Buck, Mrs. George Gohard Jr., Mrs. Peavey, Mrs. A. Stefanz, Mrs. David Russell, Mrs. Ed Russell and Mrs. Otis Taylor.

The Misses Gladys and Marguerite McCormack spent two days at Hemet and while there attended the Ramona pageant.

Homer Anderson, who had one hand badly injured several weeks ago while working with his truck, has returned to work.

A letter received by friends during the week from Mrs. George Kesterson, tells of the safe arrival of the family at their old home in Illinois where they will visit relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Kesterson sold their home here a few weeks ago when Mr. Kesterson gave up his position as wire chief with the Huntington Beach Telephone company.

Mrs. M. C. Hazard, who is assistant supervisor of the southern portion of California for the Junior Mooseheart lodge, received notice the first of the week to be in Los Angeles May 12, to institute a Junior Mooseheart lodge in that city. This will be the third lodge instituted by Mrs. Hazard, she having instituted the Huntington Beach lodge and one at San Francisco.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

Entertainment of a nature that one likes will be served tonight and tomorrow to patrons attending the Yost Broadway theater, according to Manager E. D. Yost. Each vaudeville act is a variety offering of the better class and there is just enough fun and comedy mixed with the classic numbers to make up a real program of entertainment, Yost said.

The bill is headlined by "Gems of Art," a series of "living statues." The group of artists who pose for the studies in living marble have perfected their work to an infinite degree, it is said.

A new combination of vaudevillians will be seen when Dick Stewart and Verna Noble appear in their act "An Every Day Occurrence." Both are experienced troupers and should find no difficulty in selling their line of songs and chatter.

O'Brien sisters and Mack are a trio of saxophonists, who will bring a program of songs, musical numbers and soft shoe dances. "Detected" is a singing and dancing skit offered by Lewis and Lola. As a detective, Lewis is a failure until the finish and then proves himself to be a smashing hit.

Princess Bird and Chief Cloud, as their names indicate, are Indians. They will offer a pot pourri of harmony songs and dances.

On the screen will be shown "Long Pants," a comedy featuring Harry Langdon. Langdon sheds the white light of sympathy on American boyhood at the changing age, when fuzzi on the upper lip causes a glow of esoteric pride and when mothers can't understand why their babies want to act like grown men.

LANGUAGE OF FEET IS LATEST SCIENCE

PARIS, May 6.—"Danceography" is a new science, the language of the feet.

Albert Peter, a Parisian dancing master, its inventor, offers it as the Esperanto of rhythmic feet. It is a series of signs, similar in idea to the system of musical notes, indicating accurately the various steps of a dance.

This definite description of a dance, says Peter, will enable dancing masters to patent their inventions and will enable ballroom experts of all nations to read the score of a dance, exactly as a musician would read the score of music.

Wyoming Coyotes Raising Families In England's Zoo

LONDON, May 6.—The London zoo is experimenting with the possibility of making the American coyote a perfect gentleman instead of a wandering rascal. The zoo's two Wyoming coyotes had a family of six babies about the same time that a retriever had a litter of eight puppies.

Two of the young coyotes have been given to the retriever mother in the hope that the superior ringing up will improve their manners. Two puppies were presented to the coyotes by way of consolation.

Germans Expelled From Tangier Area

'ELMER GANTRY' DRAWS SCORN OF CLERGYMEN

"Elmer Gantry," Sinclair Lewis' last indictment of modern civilization—perhaps, because of its revolutionary character, the most discussed book today in America—has brought personal response from members of the Santa Ana Ministerial association.

As was to be expected, the observations of the clergymen, against whom the novelist's efforts are directed in his sensational book, are not altogether complimentary. On the contrary, they are quite caustic.

First to challenge the general indictment leveled against the ministry, as set forth in the character delineation of "Elmer Gantry" and his associates, was the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, pastor of the Congregational church, who last Tuesday night, at a meeting of the Book Review club, gave his impressions of Lewis' novel.

When interviewed today regarding his views, the Rev. Mr. Schrock disposed of the subject with the statement that it would be a waste of time to discuss the book. "It is not worth anyone's time to read it," he declared.

Questioning the sincerity of the author, if his purpose were to reform the ethical standards of the ministry, the Rev. Moffett Rhodes, pastor of the Episcopal Memorial M. E. church, South and president of the Santa Ana Ministerial association, said that although he had been raised and educated in a minister's home, he never had met a man like "Elmer Gantry."

"Every home has a garbage can, but, as a rule, it isn't displayed in the parlor," he commented, calling attention to the overdrawn figures in the novel. Basing his observations on reviews by well known critics, the Rev. Mr. Rhodes thought that the very exaggeration of things had defeated the true purpose of the novel.

"Nothing is easier for a trained writer than to write a shocking story that will become the talk of the town and, in this respect, Sinclair Lewis has succeeded remarkably well," the pastor said. "Elmer Gantry does not represent even in a limited way, the clergy of the country for the simple reason that a man of that type could not remain in the ministry."

MECCA PILGRIMAGE STILL UNSTEMMED

BOMBAY, May 6.—In spite of the recent action of some of the Moslem politicians in this country who have been trying to dissuade their Indian co-religionists from going on the pilgrimage to Mecca this year, there has been an unusual increase in the number of pilgrims sailing from Bombay and Karachi. The average number from Bombay in late years has been about 15,000, but this year they are expected to exceed 20,000.

There are two reasons for this unprecedented increase. In the first place, Haj day, June 10, falls on a Friday, which is regarded as being peculiarly auspicious. The second reason is that the Wahabi king is making special arrangements for pilgrims and is reducing transport charges in the Hejaz. It is estimated that from 3000 to 4000 pilgrims are already in Bombay awaiting departure, and fresh trainloads are arriving daily. Fortunately the incidence of infectious disease is, so far, negligible.

Army Cats Given Increase In Food

PARIS, May 6.—Army cats have had their wages raised. As food is their chief expense, there is going to be a lot of liver consumed.

Paul Prudent Painleve, minister of war, raised the official allowance of the cats from four to 10 centimes a day. Of course that means only from about one cent a week to three cents a week, but the cats are well satisfied.

There was some objection to this 150 per cent increase in these difficult times of economy because the cats' job is to run rats and mice out of army storehouses, and there were those who thought they ought to provide for themselves.

However, the cats' landlords, janitors of the warehouses, put in a good word, and the deed is done.

city and has been an item of commerce for over 100 years. In 1915, when California growers began their by-products operation, the domestic consumption was approximately the same as it is today. The California production has supplied only about one-fourth of the total, the other three-fourths still coming from Italy and the West Indies. During this same 12 year period consumption of fresh lemons in the United States and Canada has been increased 33 1-3 per cent.

It is readily seen that California is not the big factor in this well established market for citric acid. In fact, Italy alone has a surplus of citrate of lime at this time which with their usual yearly production would supply world markets for a period of ten to 15 years. Should the California plants close down tomorrow it would not reduce the consumption in the United States. Such action would simply permit greater importations.

Some people have the idea that citric acid is used to produce lemonade, probably based on their experiences with the "citrus lemonade" of past years which might contain anything except lemon juice. And there may still be an occasional person who buys a 5-cent bottle of "soda pop" and thinks he is drinking lemonade, but the facts are that citric acid is the acidification of bottled beverages of all kinds and flavors. The "tart" that is present in practically all of these "soda pops" is furnished by citric acid. The product also has wide medicinal use in the drug and chemical markets. The third principal use is technical, in the manufacture of various products such as in the photographic industry where citric acid is used as a chemical reagent.

With lemons arriving from all shipping points in the state, the Exchange Lemon Products company at Corona is one of the busiest places in California. The 24-hour schedule requires a force of 140 men, and at maximum production approximately 360 tons of lemons per day, or a carload every hour, are converted into by-products, rather than dumped in the wash as in days gone by.

Willis Installed Stadium Favorite

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—Jack Willis has been installed as a favorite over Everett Strong in their bout of 10 rounds or less at Hollywood stadium tonight.

Signed to meet Dave Shade here next month, Willis, in the opinion of the "wise money," should beat Strong decisively.

Jerome Believes Flood Measure Will Be Approved

advanced more than any other section in the nation toward flood conservation, stated Jerome. That county is now beginning to reap the benefits of the expenditure of the sums necessary for flood control, according to the speaker.

Riverside county is playing the role of a "good sport" toward the bill instituted for control of Orange county waters, stated Jerome, for that county will allow, under the bill, much of its best land to be filled under the right of eminent domain, and thereafter to be tax free.

Dr. C. D. Ball, state assemblyman, told of experiences during the session of the state legislature in which he introduced 22 bills. He traced the passage of the more important bills which he introduced and explained the method by which they were put through. The incident of the suicide of Harry Hill of Los Angeles, a lobbyist in the capitol, and the murder of a girl clerk of the capitol, by Hill before he shot himself was recounted by Dr. Ball, who was called to attend the two immediately after the shooting.

PERSIA STARTS OUT TO BUILD GREAT EMPIRE

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Persia, with 6000 years of history behind her, and for the last two centuries a pawn in the hands of the big powers, has recently embarked on a great adventure. This land of romance has cast off her long-time guardians—England and Russia—and has overtaken a dynasty, and under the leadership of a Persian Mussolini, has set out to re-create a nation and to develop her own empire.

The important part that America is playing in Persia's present-day rehabilitation is no secret, but has been largely lost to sight on this side of the world—over-shadowed by events nearer home and concerns of more immediate consequence to our own country.

Reorganizes Financial Structure

Five years ago an American financial mission went to Persia at her invitation. Its errand was not to negotiate loans nor to safeguard American interests, but to serve as a board of managers in evolving and carrying through a comprehensive reorganization of Persia's financial structure for her own benefit. Economic independence Persia has never known, and in economic independence lay her hope of attaining the realities of political independence which she has had in form but not in substance.

The American mission, headed by Dr. A. C. Mills, formerly economic adviser of our own state department, has been in Teheran since 1922. It has accomplished miracles, not the least of which has been its success in keeping in the good graces of the Persians, in outwitting foreign intrigues set afoot to bring about its downfall, and in maintaining its control of the Persian purse strings. The budget has been balanced and a cash surplus, the equivalent of seven or eight million dollars, gold, has been accumulated. Now Persia is to construct her own and her first railroad—from the Caspian sea to the Persian gulf—financed without foreign capital, but planned and directed by American engineers.

Persia's Mussolini

Persia has her own Mussolini in the person of the new shah, Reza Pahlavi. He was the big power behind the throne for half a dozen years before he seized the crown in 1925 when the puppet shah, who preferred Paris to Persia, was deposed and his dynasty overthrown. He has the same intense nationalistic conceptions that pervade Italy and are seething in China. But he is warmly inclined toward America, and trusts his American counselors, appreciating that the United States has no selfish ends to serve in Persia.

Incidentally the shah's pet hobby is the building of railroads. Persia though in area as large as France, Germany, Belgium, Holland and Spain put together, had not a single mile of railroad before the war, and since then only short military rail lines hastily built by the British and the Russians during the war.

William B. Poland, an American engineer of note, has been appointed by the shah to direct the Persian railroad building and program. Poland served on the Harbord mission to Armenia when an American mandate for Armenia was under consideration at the peace conference, and later he was economic adviser to Jugoslavia. He has been at his post in Persia since December. Work on the first rail line, about 700 miles straight across the empire from the Caspian sea to the Persian gulf now is nearly ready to start.

Spring Practice Period Extended By Trojan Coach

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—Spring football practice at the University of Southern California will be extended an extra week because Howard Jones, the Trojan coach, isn't satisfied with the way his men are shaping up.

Coach Jones says that it is taking longer to complete the spring practice program than ever before. The Trojans lost 16 members of last year's squad by graduation, and as a result Jones is having to work his new men hard to get a line on the men that will fill the vacated positions.

Civic Center And Park Plan Are Discussed

city planning scattered all over the United States.

So our parks and civic centers must be secured after conscientious study and consideration by all, with an eye to the future; which means as one essential a study of traffic tendencies and a selection of a traffic plan; and as another, an alert eye on the zoning map. We cannot point to a site, and say, "Here, a park should be located," and to another and say, "Here a civic center should be located," without first being able to say, "Our business will be here, our residences here, and our industries here; here will be a main artery and here a secondary one."

With a map of Santa Ana before us showing how streets and highways will look, say 25 years from now, we can figure out together where our parks should be located and where our civic center and how much territory should be devoted to each need; and finally, how much indebtedness we should in justice place upon coming generations in the way of bonds, in proportion to the benefits we are giving these generations, and the amount, by buying early, we may be saving them in dollars and in cents.

CLOTHIER WILL CASE SETTLED OUT OF COURT

A settlement out of court this week, ended litigation over the $15,000 estate of the late Selma Clothier, of Cypress, according to an announcement made today.

The settlement, which is said to give Albert Frampton, Artesia banker, the sum of $1635, in return for which he releases all claims upon the estate, which was left to him by Mrs. Clothier, disposes of an attempt to break the will.

After the will disclosed that Mrs. Clothier's entire community interest in a 28-acre ranch belonging to her and her husband, George Clothier, had been left to "her beloved friend," Frampton, while the Clothier heirs were omitted from mention in the will, a suit to contest the will was brought by Mrs. Bessie Goterba, daughter of Clothier, and his guardian. Clothier had previously been declared incompetent at the time her will was made.

Hearing of the contest was started February 16. It occupied the court at intervals for the next week, during which time about half of the evidence was presented. Mrs. Goterba's contest was based upon the contention that Mrs. Clothier was not mentally competent at the time her will was made.

The case, finally, was postponed to May 2. On that date attorneys T. L. McEdden, Anaheim, and Guss Hagenstein, Fullerton, representing Frampton, and attorneys P. C. Drumm, Santa Ana and Roger Dutton, Anaheim, representing Mrs. Goterba, reached the compromise settlement. The terms include provision that each side pays its own costs, it is said.

BREA

BREA, May 6.—Trinity members who attended the reception given grand lodge and assembly officers in Ruby Rebekah hall at Orange Monday night were Mrs. Grace Stodgill, Mrs. Barbara Beer, Mrs. Nancy Kerr, Mrs. C. R. McMichael, Mrs. Greta Lackey and Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Hardman. Delegates from Trinity and from Brea lodge I. O. O. F. No. 454, will leave Saturday for the sessions of assembly and grand lodge which convene in Sacramento from May 10 to 14 inclusive. Trinity delegates are Mrs. Mary Morefield and Mrs. Minnie Epla, while C. V. Hardman and H. A. Epla will represent the Brea lodge.

Cards have been received by Brea friends announcing the marriage of Donald P. Russell, former Brea young man, to Miss Mona Clemings, of Los Angeles, in that city. Mr. Russell was formerly in the employ of the Sullivan Brothers Trucking company here and was transferred to Long Beach. The young couple are now at home to their friends at 2548 Pasadena avenue, Long Beach.

Dr. Hagin, of the Los Angeles county hospital, visited in Brea this week with his wife, Mrs. Ruth Hagin, a member of the Brea-Olinda union high school faculty.

Mrs. Greta Lackey was guest of honor on Tuesday night at a dinner given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Jordan, of Whittier, the occasion being the anniversary of her birthday. Covers were laid for the honoree, her daughter, Miss Margaret, the host and hostess and six other friends. Table decorations having been a miniature May pole from which gayly colored ribbons stretched to the places, each attached to a dinner favor.

Mr. and Mrs. Jap Goodhart are leaving shortly for a motor trip of a month to Texas and Roswell, New Mexico. They will go first to Roswell, where they will visit with Mr. Goodhart's parents, later visiting with Mrs. Goodhart's parents in Texas. As a compliment to her friends, Miss Carolina Sammons gave a going-away party at the home of her parents on Wednesday night. The evening was passed most pleasantly in music, games and contests and Mr. and Mrs. Goodhart were the recipients of several very clever gifts, designed to be of assistance to them on their motor trip.

Mrs. William Glenn, accompanied by her husband's mother, Mrs. J. P. Glenn, both of Fullerton, spent Thursday in Brea, where they visited with the former's sister, Mrs. Bert Cararher and family. Mrs. Glenn will be remembered as Miss Iris Dixon before her marriage some months ago to William Glenn, Fullerton merchant.

Sewell hall is to be the scene of two affairs Saturday, the first a merchant's hot lunch to be served by a dinner committee from Trinity Rebekah lodge and the other a jitney carnival dance to be given there that evening by the Bee Hive club. Many preparations are being made to make both these affairs a success. Mrs. Grace Stodgill is looking after details of the lunch, which Mrs. R. C. McMichael is chairman of the dance committee.

Brea folk who motored over to Hemet Sunday to see the Ramona pageant there were Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Bird, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hunter, M. V. Hayes and Miss Katherine Kelly.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Bennett, of Chicago, who have been visiting in this vicinity for the past three months or more, left Wednesday for San Francisco and other northern points, where they will visit for about a month before continuing home by way of Canada. Mr. Bennett is a cousin of Mrs. J. L. Allen. The two families spent the last week-end in San Diego together.

A committee of 15 of the members of the Woman's Guild of the Congregational church are executing a salvage drive in co-operation with a Los Angeles salvage firm. Large window cards are furnished by the firm and these are placed in the windows of the homes solicited on Monday morning, May 9. Articles of clothing and household wares will be taken by the wagons sent out and a liberal commission will be given to the women of the guild on all such material secured in this manner.

Young people of the Christian Endeavor society of Brea, Fullerton and El Modena met in the log cabin of the local church Wednesday night for their fifth annual assemblage. Games and contests, choruses and songs were enjoyed under the leadership of Miss Grace Blackstone, county social chairman, and Miss Caroline Sammons, president of the local society. Spring flowers decorated the cabin.

J. M. Massey, Anaheim builder and contractor, and M. P. Thaton, plumber of that city, are opening up an office and shop in the vacant room north of the Brea garage which room they have rented from Sid Potter. Signs are being placed on the windows today which announced that Mr. Massey will be open for building, painting and cement work, while Thaton's line will be steam fitting, plumbing and sewer contracting. A telephone is to be installed at once and a small stock will be carried by each contractor in his own particular line.

Jay B. Taylor, since 1920 proprietor of the Brea Ignition works, has sold his business to Oliver S. Crowell, who came to Brea last fall from Flint, Mich. The shop is located at 217 South Pomona on land leased for a period of 10 years. Mr. Crowell took possession of the business on April 25. He is an experienced man in this line, having spent 16 years in the automobile shops of Flint. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor will continue to live in Brea, where they own their home and later will again engage in business. With the close of the present term of school they expect to take summer's vacation, visiting in Texas, Nevada and the northwestern states.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Templeman were dinner guests on Tuesday evening of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Zimmer, proprietors of the Sunshine Poultry ranch, south of Anaheim.

Resuming their former date, another Legion auxiliary party is to be given at the Legion hall tonight. Hostesses for the occasion are Mrs. Fred Ward, Mrs. Pearl Updyke and Mrs. Dora Clark. Five hundred is played at these parties to which the public is invited and at which refreshments are served and prizes awarded.

Orange county unity of the American Legion auxiliary will meet on May 10 in the Legion hall at Brea. The day will begin with a luncheon, to be followed by the regular business session which will be presided over by the president, Mrs. Fred Ward. Mrs. Grace Drill, of Balboa, president of the county council of the auxiliary is expected to be present. Shunala Camp Fire girls enjoyed an outing at Huntington Beach on Wednesday night chaperoned by their guardian Mrs. Eckles; Miss Marie Beck, Miss Post, Miss Mathews and Mrs. Hagin, all teachers in the local schools. A weiner bake on the sand and swimming made the time fly fast for this merry group.

The literature section of the Brea Woman's club met in the home of Mrs. Phoebe Spensley on Monday night. Members who were present were Mesdames Spensley, Fanning, Negley, Close, Sayles, Kuenzli, Keene, Will and Livingston. All meetings in future will be held with Mrs. Spensley. The art section of the club held its meeting at the home of its chairman, Mrs. Fanning. They are engaged just now in the making of the popular yarn flowers.

Miss Myrna Mannis, of the Stearns lease, has returned to high school duties following a three weeks absence because of whooping cough.

Mrs. Eva Jarvis will leave shortly for Santa Cruz, where she is going as a delegate from the local lodge of Pythian Sisters. She spent two days in Long Beach the first of the week visiting the family of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Salvesson, formerly of Brea.

Charlie Richter has carpenters busy building a new front with a much larger window in his pool room on South Pomona.

May 13 is the date selected for the presentation of the high school opera, "Cherry Blossoms," and it is to be given at the Red Lantern theater. Those taking roles are Aldebert Ficus, Clarence Wise, Eva McCoy, Melvin McMechin, Mildred Chamsler, William Gullock, Jake Bergman and Don Harvey. Miss Esther Scribner is the pianist.

New Revolt Calls Out Spanish and French Soldiers

TANGIER, May 6.—It has become evident that the new revolt in the Rif will necessitate the presence of a good many additional troops, and the Spanish government has ordered an active concentration on the borders of the districts affected, where columns are being prepared for immediate action. The French have reinforced their frontier and many Spanish troops have been sent from the Teutian sector to the Rif.

Natural Gasoline Taken from Wells

CALGARY, Alberta, May 6.—Production of natural gasoline in the Turner valley from four wells on separators now amounts to approximately 850 barrels a day. The market price of this product is $4 a barrel, so that the present capacity represents $3400 a day.

TATOO WINS TURF RACE
KEMPTON PARK, Eng., May 6.—A. De Rothschild's Tatoo, carrying 116 pounds, won the Prince of Wales stakes today. Sir Abe Bailey's Legislator, 100 pounds, was second, and Lord Woolavington's Blue Boy, 114 pounds, was third.

PROPERTY, LIGHTING CREWS HAVE VERY DIFFICULT JOBS IN STAGING COMMUNITY PLAY

An important part of the rehearsals for "Smilin' Thru," the Santa Ana Community play to be presented for four nights beginning with Tuesday, May 10, is the lighting effect. For "Smilin' Thru" requires extremely careful lighting because of the ghostly scenes in certain acts, and the flood of sunlight that irradiates the old English garden, in others.

To mention Community plays without speaking of the electrician, Norman Cress (who, by the way, is a crack tennis player) and the stage carpenter, Victor Morrison, would be to omit two very vital elements which make for the success of the various plays.

Their duties are extremely onerous in "Smilin' Thru," for Morrison is building an English country house of two stories, and an especially artistic garden wall. The latter has a wicket gate, and this must be so constructed as to swing open mechanically, for the scene where the ghost enters.

Norman Cress must so arrange the lights as to flood the stage with the bright days of a mid-summer sun and again in another act, must produce the proper degree of weirdness and mysticism for the same scene in which the wicket gate must open so mysteriously.

Properties for "Smilin' Thru," as for the earlier productions, will be in charge of Mrs. William H. Cummings who kindly consented to relieve the scenery committee of that responsibility. Working on the committee with her are Mrs. M. Burr Wellington, Thomas Glen and Cecil "Cy" Featherly. The committee has been asked for the most unheard of properties, but always managed to secure the needed article even when it sometimes seems that all odds were against it.

Apropos of this, Players are still

HELEN OFF FOR EAST TONIGHT: SAILS MAY 14

BERKELEY, Calif., May 6.—Helen Willis has started her comeback. The former national women's tennis champion, ending an intensive training program, will leave here tonight with her mother enroute for England and the Wimbledon All-English championship tournament.

She will go direct to New York, where she will rest one day, then embark on the Cunard liner, Tuscania, which sails Saturday, May 14. Miss Willis will leave England July 8 or 10 to return to the United States.

Helen has been on the courts every day for the past six months, polishing off a game that seems to have no rough spots. Tennis followers say she has reached a degree of perfection in her offense and defense that was lacking last year just before she was forced to retire from English and American title tournaments on account of illness.

Most of her training has been with men players. Peck Griffin, a hard driving, forceful player, has given her the kind of practice that she needs to meet the English women.

Returning to the United States after the Wimbledon tournament, where, incidentally, she will be greeted by the Prince of Wales, Miss Willis will compete in a tourney at East Hampton, L. I., just a month before the national tournament.

The national women's tournament will be her next goal, a climax to her return to the courts.

Greece Concludes Negotiations to Pay Her War Debt

LONDON, May 6.—Negotiations concerning the Greek war debt to Great Britain have been concluded on the following terms: The amount of the debt is fixed at £21,440,000, after a deduction of the interest due and a sum for damage caused by the British Salonika force in Macedonia during the war. Greece will make the following payments: £200,000 in 1927-28, £250,000 in 1929, £300,000 in 1930, £350,000 a year from 1931 to 1935, and from 1936 up to 1937 £400,000 a year. Greece is freed from her obligation to seek Great Britain's approval for any foreign loan.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble Caused by Acid Indigestion

Gas in the stomach accompanied by a full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion." Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas, which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

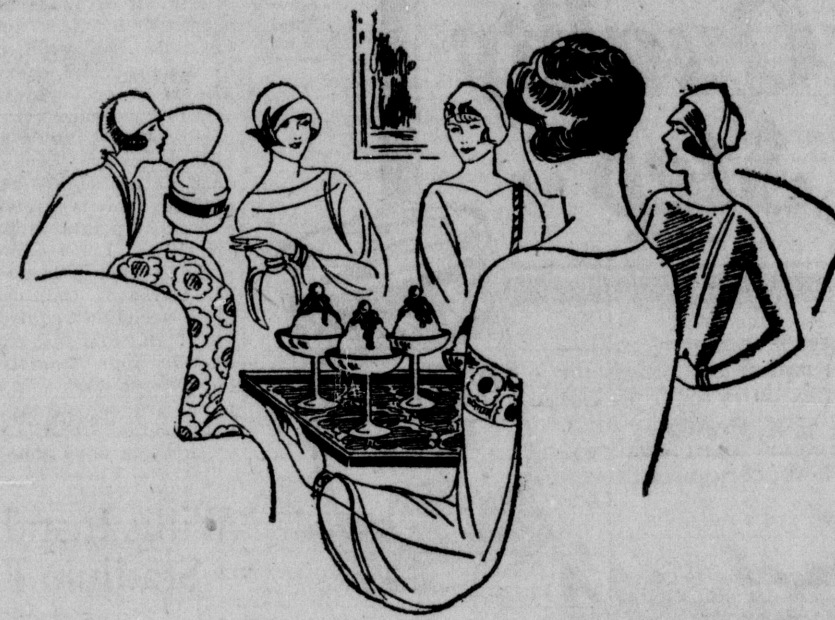

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful or four tablets in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloated right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never in liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

refreshments everybody likes

JUST around the corner there's a Crescent Dealer with a stock of wholesome and delicious Rich Crescent Ice Cream. Just the thing to make a success out of your party.

You'll find that he's an obliging sort of person too, for The Crescent Creamery Company is particular in the selection of dealers—realizing that even the extreme care which is taken in every step of the manufacturing process—rapid and frequent deliveries—icing and packing—can be set at naught by the wrong kind of dealer.

And that explains why the Crescent Creamery Company stands so solidly behind the Crescent Dealer.

We know him to be a good merchant who is making an earnest endeavor to give his patrons the best.

Why bother and fuss with cooked refreshments when there is one of these men in your neighborhood with a delicious dainty that you know everybody likes?

KEEN HINDENBURG MEMORY SURPRISES

BERLIN, May 6.—President von Hindenburg's fabulous memory for scenes and places was strikingly revealed to the new Czechoslovak minister to Germany, Dr. Frantisek Chvalkovsky, when he presented his credentials to the soldier-President.

Von Hindenburg asked him a number of interesting questions about Prague and referred to various historical buildings and landmarks with such accurate knowledge that the minister could not refrain from observing, "Your excellency is evidently intimately acquainted with the city."

"Yes," I know it rather well," the President is reported to have replied.

"And may I ask when you last visited our capital?" the diplomat continued.

"Well, that's some little time ago," was the rejoinder. "I saw it in 1886."

SON SHINES FOR MAN HELD AT H. B.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 6.—A ray of light has pierced the gloom which has for many years surrounded Henry Graw, who was arrested here recently on a charge of being intoxicated. Graw was released from the local jail on probation. He had served 16 days of a 100-day jail sentence.

Graw told a pitiful story. He was orphaned when a boy. He was placed with a German family named Graw when 4 years old. When he was 14 he set out to make his own living. He had a sister, who was placed with another family. He has never seen his sister. He does not know his own name. He says that Graw never legally adopted his and that the name he bears is not really his own.

Graw spent many years in Alaska. He struck it rich and returned to Seattle, where he spent all his life. He married and his wife died. He came to Huntington Beach and secured a job. The job ended, the company failed and Graw didn't get any money. He got another job and a pipe fell on his hand, maiming it.

Then Graw was arrested. He told the judge he drank to forget his troubles. He needed medical attention for his hand daily. Yesterday the acting city recorder, Andrew Wilson saw fit to grant Graw his freedom on probation. Graw promises to go straight.

He is leaving for Alaska again as soon as possible, he told the court.

Airplanes to Be Used for Forest Fire Patrol Work

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—Airplanes will be available this season for forest and fire patrol work in Pacific coast territory. It was announced here, following receipt of word from Washington that the army department will be enabled to supply planes.

The war department last year notified the forest service that no surplus planes would be available for aerial forest patrol duty in 1927. But the war department rescinded its former decision.

Detailed plans have not been made known yet, but it is possible that planes will be stationed at Glendale and Sacramento in California; Eugene and Medford in Oregon; Klamath Falls in Oregon, and Seattle and Spokane in Washington.

From these bases, protection will be given the forests of Oregon, Washington, northern Idaho, western Montana and California, where the bulk of virgin timber resources of the nation stands.

The greatest value of these "eyes of the forest" is not for the patrol of fixed air lanes over forested regions, but for the scouting of fires after severe lightning storms and during periods when smoke and haze obscure the forests from the ground lookout stations.

Airplanes also have proven valuable for reconnaissance of burning fires, in order to determine where best to concentrate fire fighters.

Too Much English Annoying French

PARIS, May 7.—Use of English instead of French in buyers' catalogues at auctions and art sales is annoying the French.

They think it bad taste to use a foreign language simply because much of the money comes from Anglo-Saxons.

In one of the most recent auction lists English is used with a note on the fly-leaf saying the French version will be found at the back.

An art exhibition lately raised a little storm among critics by using English altogether in its descriptive folder.

REPORT MADE ON CONVENTION OF DE MOLAY

Suggestions for improving the chapter activities of the Santa Ana order of De Molay were made at last night's meeting by Charles Searls, senior counselor, in his report of the state convention, held in Santa Cruz, which was attended by a delegation of four from the Santa Ana chapter.

California is the second state in the country in the number of new members, according to information brought back from the convention.

Efforts will be made by the Santa Ana chapter to stimulate the activities of the order by increased membership, improved ritual work and dramatized degree exemplification, as suggested in the convention report made by Searls. Russ Hooker, John Casey, Gerald Edwards and Searls were the convention delegates.

The order will return to the old ritual for degree work by action taken at the state convention.

Other business brought before the chapter was disposed of at last night's meeting. Plans were outlined for a theater party in honor of the past master counselors. The date was not set.

Chester Page was named chairman of the committee in charge of the event. Assisting him are John Casey and Roy Griset.

Announcement was made by Jack Taylor, master counselor, that election of officers will be held at the first meeting of next month. The new officers will be installed the following month at open installation ceremonies, it was decided.

SPANISH VETS TO ATTEND CONCLAVE

The Tuesday night meeting of Calumpit camp was given over to seeing that delegates to the state convention, to be held in Santa Cruz May 8-12, received their final instructions. Delegates include Charles E. Dixon, Charles Kincaid, commander, Frank Rowe, James W. Morris, U. S. Glaze, Carl Christenson and John Markwarder. Most of the men to go to Santa Cruz will leave Saturday for the north.

Dying Is Not Easy In Ural Mountains

MOSCOW, May 6.—Death is becoming complicated in the lonely stretches of the Ural mountains. The Soviet officials there have tightened up their "red tape" and refuse to register deaths without a physician's certificate of the cause of the demise. But doctors are as scarce in the Ural mountains as deaths are frequent.

A number of corpses have been taken on week-long journeys in search of a physician whose certificate was necessary for proper official burial. But a simpler method has been worked out by several old people awaiting death. The Soviet officials report that old people have provided themselves in advance with certificates from physicians declaring that their death, when and if it occurs, will have been from natural causes.

A ranch for the rearing of muskrat, covering 7,000 acres of swampy land, lakes and woods, is being constructed in the interior of British Columbia. The ranch is expected eventually to produce 50,000 pelts a year.

PAST REBEKAH NOBLE GRANDS HONOR GUESTS

One of the largest and most enjoyable events in the social history of the Torosa Rebekah lodge took place Wednesday afternoon when the doors of White Gables, the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Watkins, were opened to receive the past noble grands of the order, other members and their guests, for a benefit card party.

Fifteen tables for bridge, five hundred and other games were arranged in the spacious rooms, which were attractively adorned with flowers in shades of pink. The few visitors who did not take part in the games enjoyed the opportunity of viewing the beautiful gardens which surround the home.

For the further entertainment of their guests, the entertainment committee, Mrs. A. B. Chandler, Mrs. F. G. Spencer, Mrs. Nora Keseman and Mrs. M. C. McKee, issued cards for the drawing of a prize, which proved to be a framed picture, and, through a clever stroke of chance, the hostess herself was the deserving winner. Crystal bud vases holding Irish Elegance and Lady Hill-Indon roses were the prizes awarded to those scoring high at each table, with special prizes of score card pencils. Refreshments of delicious hot chocolate and cakes were served.

Funds received from the proceeds of the benefit will be used to purchase a ceremonial robe which is worn as a part of the regalia of the order.

Guests who were present to share the pleasure of the afternoon, including those from out of town and the house-guests of Mrs. Watkins, Mrs. W. O. Hill, Mrs. Mollie Tyrrell and Mrs. Zella Riesland, were Mesdames G. W. Norton, H. C. Head, Elvora Pickle, Keseman, E. C. Granger, Nellie Young, Blanche Chandler, W. S. Chandler, Emma M. NEWS FROM ORANGE AND SURROUNDING DISTRICT

INCREASE IN COUNTY CITRUS CROP IS SEEN

ORANGE, May 6.—As the result of an orchard survey on May 1, officials of the Orange County Fruit Exchange, with headquarters in Orange, have revised their estimates of the total crop of citrus fruits, which may be expected this year to include an additional 200 cars it is learned today.

A previous survey estimate was made April 1. Similar increases have been noted throughout the area, covered by the California Fruit Growers' exchange, according to officials.

Although the increase as estimated by citrus authorities might appear very small in comparison with the total number of cars shipped from the county during each season, it is important, according to those informed, because of its bearing in the condition of the crop. The increase indicates that the damage has been done the top and that heavy rains have made the crop a success.

Altogether the outlook for a bumper harvest during the current season is brighter than it has been for many years, not excepting last season, when shipments reached the highest mark in local citrus annals, citrus authorities are agreed.

Radio entertainers and a moving picture comedy together with two of the contestants in the recent oratorical trials at the Orange union high school, made up the program.

Approximately 200 people thronged the hall. The business meeting occupied but a few moments before the program was initiated with musical selections by Eddie Jones and his Blue Bird Hawaiian trio.

Robert Hartman, winner of second place in the county tryouts, delivered his oration. Miss Thelma Durgan, a runner up in the local contests in which Hartman won first place, also delivered her oration.

A two-reel movie comedy was projected by C. C. Triplett, high school pedagogue. Following the showing of the movie, the Harmony Four orchestra, headed by Mark Alviso, played several numbers. Clyde Holland and his Hilo band also rendered several selections to conclude the evening.

Card games were arranged following the entertainment program.

FINE WELCOME IN PARIS FOR LEGIONNAIRES

PARIS, May 6.—"The legion has rooms in 1300 Paris hotels. As a curiosity there are 13,000 so-called hotels in Paris and we looked at them all. Our inspectors told us just why we should not go into hotels we avoided," said Sedley Peck, one of the chief legion men who is in Paris most of the time.

The advance visit of the executive committee to arrange details of the convention in Paris in September has resulted in the engagement of five classes of hotels.

"We give the boys seven days in Paris at prices ranging from $10 to $49 for room only," says Peck. They have rooms in the finest hotels, like the Crillon, the Sorbie, Claridges, the Palais d'Orsay, the Continental (headquarters of the Women's auxiliary) and two-thirds of the rooms at the new Ambassadeurs, which has 2000 rooms with bath. The Ambassadeurs is the biggest hotel in Europe, and the legion men will be the first to enjoy it.

"We have not enough of the very finest hotels," says Peck. "Among the 30,000 legion visitors there will be men willing to pay for the best and we've got to please them."

As they do not travel on passports, the visitors will enjoy immense freedom. Identification certificates have been accepted by all European countries instead of passports, thus avoiding visas or charges of any kind. Such identification certificates are heretofore unknown to the Paris police, but the boys will have only to flourish them to get past any French authority.

"In order not to place too much burden on the Paris police force," say the executive committee, "there will be special units in each group entrusted with keeping their members within bounds. There is little to be feared for the decorum of visitors."

"Ten thousand men will bring their wives or other female relatives," says E. J. Smith, motor transport chief.

LA HABRA P. T. A. ELECTS OFFICERS

LA HABRA, May 6.—Officers were elected at the last meeting of the local Parent-Teacher association at the Washington school auditorium Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Nick Heet was chosen president; Mrs. N. M. Launer, vice president; Mrs. Dan Hungerford, treasurer; and Mrs. Robert Allen, secretary.

At the business meeting held with Mrs. J. L. Morris in charge, $25 was voted for the benefit of the school band. The pupils in the seventh grade of the Washington school with the grade mother, Mrs. A. V. Douglass, as chairman, were appointed to look after the flowers and decorations for the eighth grade commencement.

A new visual education picture machine recently purchased by the P. T. A. was demonstrated by Harry Marsh. The program was given by the Wilson school with a number of selections by the Girls' Glee club of the Fullerton Union high school.

All Best Jobs In England Are Held by Scots

LONDON, May 6.—One of the standing jokes of England is the great number of Scots always to be found occupying high positions in state, church and industrial life. Scotsmen never turn back to Scotland, says the English.

"I held a certain office in England not so long ago," said Ramsay MacDonald recently at a dinner of the Scots' Labor club in London, "we Scotsmen in England had scooped the pool. The two archbishops, the lord chancellor and the prime minister all were Scotsmen. We had everything worth having in church and state."

Bus Guards Must Omit All Singing

LONDON, May 6.—No more will London's traveling public be thrilled or pained as the case may be by the warbling of bus conductors. It has long been the habit of these cheery cockneys to whistle or sing as they collected the fares, but the bus companies recently have been hearing from that section of the public which does not approve of the efforts of the amateur Carousos and have issued an order that vocalizing on duty must cease forthwith.

SMALLMAN A. CAPELLA CHOIR TO SING AT HIGH SCHOOL NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT, MAY 13

Above: the Smallman A Capella choir of 40 mixed voices which will appear as the last number on the Parent-Teacher association music course. Mrs. Fay R. Spangler, president of the City Federation, has appealed for full support of the concert by the townspeople.

No Charge to Be Made for School Children When Attend with Parents

Mrs. Fay R. Spangler, president of the Santa Ana City Federation, California Congress of Parents and Teachers, today made a last appeal to the music lovers of Santa Ana to support the final number of the music course sponsored by the organization, the number being a concert by the Smallman A Capella choir of 40 mixed voices. The choir, reputed to be the best of its kind in America, will sing at the high school auditorium next Friday evening, May 13, beginning at 8 o'clock.

When the curtain rises on the first number, the audience is most pleasantly surprised to see the choir standing on a raised platform, each singer costumed in gypsy style. Another surprise is to hear the choir begin each of its numbers without apparently having received their pitch from any visible source, such as a pitch pipe or instrument of any kind. Mrs. Spangler said:

"The Parent-Teacher organizations of Santa Ana ask the full support of the citizens of Santa Ana in making this course a success. This choir deserves a full auditorium. In helping us you will be helping your own child or the child of some one else in hearing this concert. Every child, from the fifth grade up to the high school, accompanied by an adult will be admitted free to the concert. Tickets are on sale at the Santa Ana Book store, and Sam Stein's Stationery store and every school will have a supply of tickets. The price is $1 for a single admission. The Parent-Teacher organizations of Santa Ana deserve your full support."

The choir is composed of 40 mixed voices, and was organized in December, 1924. Extremely careful selection of voices was made at that time by the founder, John Smallman from the various organizations of which he is conductor, including the Los Angeles Oratorio society and the choir of the First Congregational Church of Los Angeles.

Singing "a cappella," or unaccompanied, is the purest form of choral art and was the style used in the early centuries. "A cappella" means literally, "chapel style," hence the reason for the choir adopting the Italian title. Such singing makes the most exacting demands upon those who are courageous enough and who have the patience it requires, to attempt it. Not the least of these demands is that every individual must have a most acute ear if proper intonation is to be obtained.

Young fresh voices must be found which will blend into the various colors called for by the music. Above all it is essential that every musician for the best classics, and keep foremost in his mind the highest ideals. No other kind of person would be willing to make the sacrifice necessary to attend the constant rehearsals that are imperative if such an ensemble is to be perfected.

For ever a year this enthusiastic body of singers have rehearsed under their direction more. They have acquired a repertoire of which they may be justly proud. The Smallman A Capella Choir made its official public debut at the Philharmonic Auditorium, March 28. They were accorded a most flattering reception by a very large audience. The greatest encouragement was given in the reviews written by newspapers and magazines. Most of the critics made the Smallman choir was on a par with any of the similar organizations which have toured the United States.

The costumes bear no significance whatever except that it is a relief from the conventional and somewhat somber garb usually worn by choirs singing the sacred classics. Mr. Smallman received his inspiration from the Sistine Choir, the Ukrainian Chorus and the St. Olaf Lutheran choir. He and the choir members feel that none of the time and effort spent are wasted if in the present tour they in turn succeed in inspiring other choirs to take up this kind of music and present it in their respective churches, thereby gradually raising the standard of church music, especially upon the Pacific Coast.

Beauty Parlors Shunned by Mary

LONDON, May 6.—Queen Mary is one of the few queens of Europe who does not patronize a beauty parlor.

The queen was recently being shown around a new large hotel here and after entering and inspecting the beauty parlor of the hotel turned to her guide and exclaimed, "Well, this is the first time I have ever been in a beauty parlor."

It is known that several visiting queens have attended a prominent beauty parlor here for extensive courses of treatment, but the establishment is as discreet as the foreign office itself regarding these visits and nothing is ever heard of the royal patronage.

TELLS WHY HAMMOND AND CRANSTON SHOULD BE KEPT IN SCHOOLS

Editor Register—I am inclosing a copy of my letter to the board of education of Santa Ana. You may publish same in the Register.

LOUIS C. LUHR.

Santa Ana, Calif., May 5, 1927.

Board of Education.

Santa Ana, Calif.

Gentlemen—You have before you a petition requesting the removal from office of Mr. Cranston and Mr. Hammond. As one of the great majority of Santa Ana citizens who did not sign the petition in question, I beg to state and submit for your consideration reasons why Mr. Cranston and Mr. Hammond should not be dismissed, but retained in office.

In my judgment there are only two valid reasons for removing a superintendent, a principal or instructor of any public school, viz:

1. On moral grounds.

2. Because of incompetence.

I am certain no one is making charges of moral delinquency against Mr. Cranston and Mr. Hammond. It therefore remains for the board of education to consider and pass judgment on their other qualifications for the positions which they are holding.

The question is, are they competent?

If you will pardon the digression, I will mention that since coming to Santa Ana to live, I have been particularly interested in our high school and junior college, as my son attended these schools and is a graduate of both.

I have not met Mr. Cranston personally. I know Mr. Hammond and will confine my remarks to him, though I have reason to believe that what I shall say about Mr. Hammond is in important particulars true of Mr. Cranston and will apply to him as well.

Outstanding Qualities

Mr. Hammond's outstanding qualities, in my judgment, are as follows:

1. Mr. Hammond is a scholar. His scholarship is unquestioned.

2. Mr. Hammond is courteous and tactful. Anyone meeting him even casually will note this quality.

3. Mr. Hammond is firm when the occasion demands it. No one will challenge his moral courage.

4. Mr. Hammond is an able high school and junior college administrator and this quality is essential above all things. It is my conviction that Mr. Hammond has no superior as a school principal in Southern California. As evidence of this I call attention to our splendid high school and junior college facilities which he has succeeded in gathering around him. I also offer as proof the fact that our high school and junior college are out-ranked by no other schools of this class in California in the estimation of our great University of California at Berkeley.

When we consider that only the schools of one other state in the United States, viz.: Massachusetts, are regarded by the educators of our country as on a par with the schools of California, we may well be proud of our Santa Ana schools and should feel grateful to those who have been instrumental in placing our schools in such an enviable position.

Gentlemen of the board of education, would it not be unwise to remove from office the men under whose generalship our schools have attained such high rank and to take chances on upsetting or disrupting our present efficient school organization?

What's It All About?

I desire to say that in no respect am I questioning the motives of those who signed and presented the formal petition. There is no good reason, if there are grievances, why we should not discuss these matters frankly and in good temper. Referring to the petition, therefore, I ask: What's it all about? What are the charges? Surely it is not proposed to make such important changes on a whim.

In conclusion, I will state that, although I am urging the retention of Mr. Cranston and Mr. Hammond in office, if the board of education decides to act contrary to my petition, I will nevertheless pledge my loyal support to our schools and will co-operate in every effort that I deem for their best interests. Respectfully yours, will continue to play active roles—nothing else. She told me so herself, so it must be true. Demure little girls aren't to be liked at all—and neither are sophisticated society women. She wants to cram all the wild excitement possible into each film.

LOUIS C. LUHR.

"It seems strange that a person can play in pictures so long before learning where her talent lies," mused Bebe. "I have been acting since I was sixteen years old and it has only been during the last six months that I have found out what I could do best."

I can't quite understand just why Bebe had such a difficult time finding her place. Her acting is typical of her real personality—although, of course, greatly exaggerated as all movies exaggerate life. Bebe is the most active girl in the film colony, just as Fairbanks is the most active man. Neither is content to be quiet for more than a few minutes at a time.

Right now Bebe is taking the first real vacation she has had since she was 14. At the end of her two months' rest, she will return to the Lasky studio and start work under her new five-year contract. Her first story is now being prepared by John McDermott, who also wrote "Senorita"—the best picture she has ever made.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA: John Jacob Astor

Sketches by Bessey
Synopsis By Braucher

Astor's idea to build a chain of fur trading posts along the Missouri and across the Rockies to the Columbia river and the Pacific coast was brilliant and daring. In 1811, Astor's ship, the Tonquin, arrived at the Columbia, and in spring the log fort known as Astoria had been built and fur trapping and trade started.

Astor had recruited many of the men of the rival Northwestern company. Hardy Scots and French coureurs de bois were his force at Astoria.

John Jacob Astor's serenity in the face of misfortune was illustrated when the Tonquin was raided by Indians and destroyed.

Many of the crew of the ship had been killed by Indians. A survivor had crept below and set off the powder magazine, blowing up ship, Indians and all. It was a tremendous blow to Astor's venture in the west, but when the news reached him, he was on his way to a theater—he attended the play and showed no emotion. ©1927 BY NEA SERVICE, INC. THE TINYMITES

STORY BY MAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The cave the Tinymites had found apparently went underground for quite a distance. It was black as black could be inside. They peeped into the entrance-way. The others then heard Scouty say, "I wonder if the floor goes down, 'cause if it does, we'll slide."

They could not see because 'twas dark. Then suddenly, someone said, "Hark! I think someone is coming. I can hear some footsteps near. Let's hide behind that nearby tree where we can watch until we see just who it is, and then there'll be no cause for any fear."

And so they scampered to the tree, and there they waited patiently. A man's voice started singing in a merry sort of way. Said he, "I'm happy as can be. A man of smiles and laughs. That's me! Why worry 'bout tomorrow, when we're always got today?"

Then Clowny whispered, "That sounds good. I'd like to meet him."

Wish we could, 'cause when he sounds so happy it just makes me feel real brave." The voice and footsteps then drew near and all the bunch were filled with cheer. Before them stood a man, right in the doorway of the cave. "Hello there, someone! Who's about?" the Tinies heard the old man shout. And Scouty jumped out from the tree and said, "Just Tinymites. We came here with a flying goose who on this island turned us loose. We don't know where we are, but we would like to see the sights."

"Well, say, that's fine," the old man cried. "Just come and sit down by my side. I'm Daffydoo, the friendly man who rules in Daffydland." The Tinies did as told to do, and then the old man sat down too. Said he, "I've walked a lot today. I'm much too tired to stand."

BEAUTY CHATS

SHAMPOOES

Here are several shampoo suggestions. The first is an egg shampoo, as egg is wonderful as a tonic for the scalp, and eggs are cheap now. It takes a little time, for the egg must have half an hour at least to dry on the scalp.

Take the egg, beat it enough with a fork to blend the yoke and the white not enough to make it frothy. Part the hair, rub on this sticky mixture. Rub it all over the scalp and all over the hair; as you've most likely got bobbed hair, the job is not difficult. Let it stay on as long as possible, half an hour, an hour, it should dry on.

Wash off with quite warm water and castile soap. In this case you can rub the cake of soap directly on the scalp. The egg takes off with it the dirt, scurf, dandruff, and everything else that collects on the scalp and on the hair, leaving it all fluffy, glossy, healthy, clean, and soft as you could wish. Two or three soapings and four rinsings will be enough, for the egg does the work.

Here's another suggestion. Melt up castile soap with hot water to make a thick syrup. Put in a little antiseptic—any good, reliable household antiseptic. Most of them have patented names, so I cannot give you any suggestions. Use something you are familiar with, so you will know the amount to combine with your soap. Ten drops of carbolic in an eight-ounce bottle of the liquid soap will do nicely. But be careful in dropping it out; use a dropper.

Shampoo by using the liquid soap four times, and rinse with a hose attached to the bathtub faucet, with or without a spray nozzle on the hose. It is the force of the water as much as the BREAKFAST—Stewed rhubarb, crisp broiled bacon, creamed potatoes, bran muffins, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Creamed fish in rice cases, radishes, toasted muffins, pear spider cake, milk, tea.

DINNER—Cold sliced roast beef, twice baked sweet potatoes, grape fruit salad, date and nut pudding, milk, coffee.

Pear Spider Cake
Two tablespoons butter, 1-2 to 3-4 cup brown sugar, 1 pint can pears, 4 tablespoons broken walnut meats, 3 eggs, 1 cup granulated sugar, 1 cup flour, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1-4 cup water, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla.

Melt butter in a seven or eight-inch iron frying pan. Sprinkle evenly with brown sugar. Drain pears from syrup and place cut side up over sugar. Sprinkle with chopped nuts. Beat eggs until very light, using a Dover beater. Beat in sugar and water and vanilla, continuing to use beater. Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder and stir into egg mixture. Pour over pears in spider and bake on middle grate of a moderately hot oven for 30 minutes. The cake should be placed in the oven so that the most heat will be at the bottom. Turn out, up-side-down on a large plate and serve with or without a garnish of whipped cream.

WOMEN ARE TOLD TO STEP OUT, REFUEL SPIRITUALLY

By Olive Roberts Barton
Mark Sullivan in his book "Our Times" makes this philosophical remark: "Restlessness turned in upon itself ferments into something a little bitter."

His reference was made to an era in the country's history when the free lands of the west were closed, and that Mecca for the dissatisfied, the unsuccessful and the oppressed was a thing of the past.

What is true of a country is true of people. Once there was a woman who always kept three pickets off the backyard fence. Her husband was a grumbler and life was hard. She worked all day cooking and cleaning and washing and scrubbing, then when night came and she was about dead, to have her grumbling stingy husband come in and find fault was more than she could bear.

Back of the kitchen was her garden and around the garden was the fence. When things came to the stage that she wanted to throw the teakettle, she opened the kitchen door and slipped through the gap in the fence. The gate "might have stuck" and when she wanted to get away she had to get away "quick." What she did thereafter is not important. The thing is that it was better to get away and to know she could get away at the psychological moment than to stay and brood and grow bitter.

It is largely our own fault when we paint ourselves into a corner. Every one has a right to an outlet, a safety-valve. Who has a better right than Mother, for instance, when spring fever is flourishing, to prop up a note on the sugar bowl saying that there is plenty of food in the refrigerator for lunch, and she has gone out to see the blossoms at Aunt Clara's?

Any woman who has enough strength of character to step out and take on a little spiritual fuel for another run is not likely to grow bitter inside when responsibility gets too heavy.

Queer Quirks of - NATURE -

A FEATHERED WOOD CARVER

BY ARTHUR N. PACK

President, American Nature Ass'n. This tree is a live hemlock more than two feet in diameter at the base. A colony of ants honey-combed the heart, and in some manner a pair of plicated woodpeckers living in the vicinity learned of the ants' presence.

The big birds promptly drilled through six inches of green timber to reach the ant colony, making a series of holes to enable them to reach all of the insects.

The plicated woodpecker is the second largest bird of the United States, yielding first place to the handsome ivory-billed woodpecker of the inaccessible cypress swamps of Florida.

The latter was once fairly common in the southern swamps, but has now become almost extinct, and the plicated is rapidly following in the footsteps of his more regal cousin over much of his original range. The great pine forests of the northern states, where the latter was once common, have been cut away, and the plicated has become a rare sight in that region.

Both the plicated and ivory-billed woodpeckers are often called log cocks, or cock-of-the-woods. They are big birds, the ivory bill measuring more than a foot and a half long.

The plicated woodpecker sometimes hollows out his entire nest cavity in a live tree, the toughness of the green wood proving no barrier to his heavy bill.

SOVIET SCORES U. S. FOR BLOOD BATH IN CHINA

RIGA, May 6.—Not since the general strike has the Soviet press been so violently abusive of Great Britain as it is now under the influence of events in China. The Pravda and Izvestia announce in enormous headlines, "The unheard-of slaughter of defenseless women and children by Anglo-British civilized murderers." "The premeditated bombardment of the most thickly populated quarters of Nanking," and so forth.

The chief object of all this hatred and abuse is, of course, Great Britain, though the United States, "which has at last torn off the mask and abandoned her flirtation with the Chinese revolution," comes in for a fair share of denunciation. Whole pages of the official Soviet press are taken up with descriptions of "mass indignation meetings" held throughout Russia, and resolutions voicing the "solidarity with the Chinese revolutionaries and protesting against the capitalist murderers" as personified by the British.

Hymn of Hate
The appeal of the executive of the Communist International addressed to "men and women toilers of the world" is a hymn of hate.

"The civilized barbarians," it says, "led by British and American imperialists, have bombarded and burnt the city of Nanking, destroyed the workers' district, accumulated mounds of corpses, and shot down with heavy shells thousands of peaceful citizens." This was done because "the recent victories of the Chinese revolution had jeopardized the imperialist domination in China."

The appeal declares that "the bombardment was first of all directed against those fearless Shanghai and Nanking workers who had collected their mite for the support of the British miners in their fight against the common oppressors and in fear and hope had followed their heroic stand during the strike. The British Conservatives, who had carried on negotiations with Canton, now appear before the toilers of the world and especially before the Chinese people in their true aspect as fierce bandits and murderers."

United States Abused
The world "proletariat" is called upon "to face the truth," that Great Britain and the United States have "started a great war against the Chinese people" in conjunction with "the ruffian of the Czarist army and the reactionary remnants of Imperial China's troops." "Only traitors to the workers' cause can praise of capitalist pacifism, and shameless charlatans praise the League of Nations which shields the murderers of the Chinese people, for it is controlled by British Conservatives, the executioners of Shanghai, Wansien and Nanking."

The appeal summons "all toilers of the earth" to raise their voice in protest against this new war, and brands as "traitors" all those who will "wash their hands and shirk action" at this crucial moment.

French Telegraph May Have to Pay For Its Mistakes

PARIS, May 6.—The French government telegraph monopoly is likely soon to be held responsible for damages caused by its errors, as is the rule in all business.

Back in 1860, when telegraph keys were stuttering with some irregularity, the government protected itself from damage claims by a specific exemption.

For years chambers of commerce, newspapers and business men have demanded that the government be held responsible for its errors. A bill to change the old law now has such support that its passage is expected soon.

Aside from the argument that justice requires such responsibility, it is contended that the government will do the work better if it has to pay for its mistakes.

Camels Sell for $1 at Auctions

SYDNEY, N. S. W., May 6.—A group of female camels realized only a dollar apiece at a recent auction in an outback district of New South Wales.

Until a few years ago camels were extensively used in dry inland areas for transport of wool and other products to and from the nearest railroad. But the modern motor truck has proved so much faster, cheaper, and more capable of management even in the driest districts that the hump-backed animal has become obsolete. Hence, their owners have despaired of making them profitable, and the herds have mostly been sold at auction or turned loose.

Some of the latter have increased since their release and have become a menace in many districts. When they reach areas of settlements they are impounded by the authorities. It was one such lot that was recently sold at auction. The females brought a dollar each and the bulls little more.

Polecat Appears; School Is Closed

BAKER, Ore., May 6.—Boys who get the spring fever during the balmy days of early summer might gain a vacation by taking a tip from what happened at a local school and gain a rest through the unknown co-operation of a polecat. That kind of an animal was, in some "mysterious" manner, placed in a school cloakroom. Teachers succeeded in driving him out shortly, but his memory—pungent and odorous—remained. Teachers adjourned school.

City Famed for Porcelain Now 1000 Years Old

DRESDEN, May 6.—Plans are being made for a worthy celebration in 1929 of the 1000th anniversary of the founding by Kaiser Heinrich of the city of Meissen, famous all over the world for its porcelain. The celebration will include the installing in the Staditurn or city tower of a carillon of porcelain bells. Porcelain chimes were made by the Chinese 500 years ago, but these will be the only ones in Germany, except for a set of miniature porcelain bells in the Dresden State Porcelain museum. The largest bells of the Staditurn carillon will be about four feet high.

IS OPTIMISTIC OVER FUTURE FOR GERMANY

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—Dr. Wilhelm Cuno, former Chancellor of the German empire during the trying days between Nov. 21, 1922, and Aug. 12, 1923, who, with his wife and daughter, is making an unofficial visit to the United States in his capacity of director-general of the Hamburg-American line, was in San Francisco for several days before going home via New York. As representative of the treasury department in the German government, and later superintendent of the distribution of foodstuffs, Dr. Cuno has held some of the most important posts within the gift of the German state. He is a member of the Democratic party of Germany.

In a special interview, Dr. Cuno states a few of his opinions on the political and economic recovery of Germany.

Improved Conditions
"The general situation in Germany is steadily improving," says Dr. Cuno, "both internally and externally. The existing political treaties of Locarno and Geneva have helped to rebuild the shattered tissue of European post-war economics as well as to restore normal political relations."

"The tendency to organize large combines throughout Europe today is one result of the general post-war situation. Industries that before the war operated successfully were forced to combine to save expenses, and this is true not only in regard to Germany as a nation, but internationally as well. 'Commercially, Germany is well on the road to commercial recovery, despite her lack of colonies and overseas possessions, without which it is exceedingly difficult for a commercial nation to attain a position of first rank, but the whole development, of course, depends on the payments Germany has to make for reparations. Another difficulty is that the government finds itself unable to employ its people abroad in the development of colonial resources, as was the case before the war, and this makes it hard on the German people, and hard on her former colonies as well.'

Loss Keenly Felt
"It is impossible to state whether Germany will ever succeed in having her colonies returned to her we have always asserted that we were unjustly deprived of them and that they are essential to the full restoration of our commercial and industrial prosperity."

"In spite of obvious handicaps in this and other respects, Germany is steadily going ahead as a nation. 'Our steamship lines are operating on every route held before 1914, and are co-operating with those of other countries in every respect. In spite of the troubled situation in China, the ships sailing between Hamburg and Chinese ports are doing fairly well, and German merchants and business men in that country appear to be working fairly satisfactorily.'

"The stabilization of the mark and the return to a gold standard was, of course, a prerequisite to rebuilding our economic life. In this, the Dawes plan was useful, but nobody can see now what the outcome will be, if in the following years, increasing payments have to be made."

France Will Have First Aid Huts on Its Auto Routes

PARIS, May 6.—The Paris-Lyon road, well marked with automobile wrecks every summer, is to have regular hospital service. First aid stations are to be established along the 140 miles of the speedway to the seashore by the Touring Club of France.

At each 100 points every mile and a half, there will be equipment for emergency medical attention. At certain points there will be provision for summoning doctors and ambulances.

The road is the most popular out of Paris and as it leads to the country's most fashionable and most expensive resort, there always are many fast cars.

Algiers Deputy Serves 50 Years

PARIS, May 6.—Deputy Gaston Thomson has established a French parliamentary record by having served in the chamber of deputies for fifty consecutive years for the same constituency. A moderate radical, renowned as a great lister, he has also set a record for making so few speeches. He was elected from Constantine, Algeria, in April, 1877, when Marshal MacMahon was attempting a coup. Thomson, re-elected as a protest against MacMahon, afterward became the trusted confidant of Gambetta.

Inside the barn, Jack Lockwell fought desperately to free himself from the knotted rope that held him to the heavy post. He struggled to his feet, the rope sliding on the post, but all his strength was unavailing. The fire was creeping upon him. Already the smoke would have choked him only for the draft from the broken window, which was carrying it toward the open door.

MAN'S SYNCOPATORS TO PLAY AT BEACH

Mann Brothers' Singing Syncopators will have charge of the musical end of the dances at the Balboa pavilion Saturday night, Sunday afternoon and Sunday night, according to an announcement made today.

A Pantages band that has made a name for itself not only on the coast but throughout the United States, Mann's music makers are scheduled to turn Balboa topsy-turvy with their melodies, their manager said.

The orchestra has toured the country with B. F. Keith, and Pantages circuits and was for some months the concert orchestra at the Davenport hotel, Spokane, Wash.

Heraldic Beast Has Its Horns Twisted About

LONDON, May 6.—Heraldic stone beasts that adorn the pinnacles of St. George's Chapel at Windsor Castle, have been restored but a slight mistake on the part of the restorers has not escaped the eagle eye of a certain member of parliament.

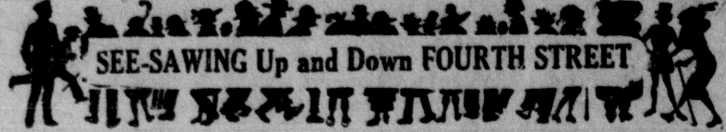

He raised the question in the house of commons as to why a certain heraldic beast is now represented with its horns both facing the same way, whereas the correct design is for one horn to point forward and one backward. These stone beasts, lions, bulls, and fabulous monsters, were first set up in Tudor times to illustrate the claim of the Tudors to unite the houses of York and Lancaster, the white rose and the red.

How To Talk Campus English

Just wandering: Fred Parker, majordomo of the Santa Ana merchant police. . . . A fit subject for a fascinating news story. . . . War hero, decorated for valor, expert marksman. . . . He knows how the other world lives but he doesn't live it exactly. . . . He guards property while merchants sleep. . . . He hasn't gone to bed at night for three years or more. . . . Speaking of telephones, his company has found the influence of the films too insidious on the public. . . . The movies have a way of showing phoners using those trick French receivers. . . . The merchant said he could have a hat instead. . . . Ruddy didn't need a hat then so he waited until May. . . . And straw hat season.

Sam Hill. . . . He's the man who originated the chain-store idea in Santa Ana. . . . That was 15 years or so ago. . . . Started his business on a modest scale. . . . Groceries were his line. . . . Nobody thought much about buying in quantity then. . . . Hill established store after store here and through the county. . . . Later sold his plants to one of the large Southern California firms that sprang up after he started the ball rolling.

That anomaly of modern civilization—the collegian—who gained fame through his flaming sartorial affliction, is off on another tangent, this time to offer a queer jargon that is displacing campus English.

Those pedagogues who have dedicated their efforts and lives to the study of lexicology frankly admit their inability to offer any reason for the trend toward "English" as "she is spoke" in some of our higher institutions of learning. That Mr. Roge's Thesaurus is most incomplete is indicated by the collection of "Campus Cant," compiled at the University of Southern California for the benefit of less intellectual circles.

The collegian, however, sees nothing strange in the fact that a "giraffe" is a "creature who spoons—one who necks."

A "Powder House Fluff" is not the name of a new candy bar, she is a sorority girl. Likewise, a "tong" is a fraternity house.

If a co-ed is styled as a "but-ter and egg fly" it means that she is a social queen. On other occasions she is known as "lol-loes," "cloud," "wows" or "tin-pans."

To "junk" is to stop. "Pigskins" are football players. "Step-ins" are cut-down flivvers. "Pussy-foot" indicates the collegian is attempting to make a date. "Hijack-er" is one who steals another's girl. "Hanging a goober" refers to the art of osculation.

John Spangler, 32, a Civil War veteran visiting in Santa Ana from Raymond, Wash., has infinite faith in the honesty of mankind. He has just passed through an experience which bolstered his convictions.

Mr. Spangler recently sent some clothing to a local laundry and inadvertently included a shirt, in the pocket of which was a $100 bill.

The shirt came back from the laundry. So did the $100 bill. Honestly pays.

Mr. Spangler, visiting at the residence of O. A. Haley, local automobile dealer, says he and Mrs. Spangler like Santa Ana so well they may decide to remain here.

ANTS TROUBLESOME—THE COMING SEASON

Heavy Winter Rainfall Usually Followed by Scourge of Ants

While the unusually heavy rainfall this winter will bring prosperity to the agriculturalists of California, it will bring something far less welcome to the housewives of the state in the form of an army of ants. Nothing is more aggravating than a house over-run with these pests, especially when they invade the pantry and swarm all over the food.

"The one redeeming feature of this nuisance," according to the manufacturers of Kellogg's Ant Paste, "is that it is comparatively easy to control." They claim that "one application of Kellogg's Ant Paste will make every ant disappear from a house in 24 hours. The result is almost magical, and has demonstrated to such an extent that Kellogg's has become an absolute household necessity the country over."

The manufacturers of Kellogg's Ant Paste, realizing that there are times and places where housewives prefer to use an ant remedy in powder form, have succeeded in developing what they consider to be the most effective ant powder on the market and which will be available this season under the name of Kellogg's Ant Powder.

FAMOUS ATHLETES ENTER COUNTY A. A. U.

SANTA ANA SET FOR BIG STATE TRACK CLASSIC

Competition Will Be Keen But Coach Oliver Places Confidence in His Men

Eighty-five California high schools will have athletic representatives in the California Inter-scholastic track classic tomorrow afternoon and in this vast army will be a tiny band of seven which hopes to place the colors of Santa Ana one-two-three.

It is a serious undertaking but Coach Gerald Oliver, the young Texan, believes his boys can finish in second place. Glendale, mighty champion of the Southland, is conceded first place by all the experts without much more than the formality of running through the events.

Pasadena, which tied Santa Ana for second in the Southern California Inter-scholastic, Vallejo, champion of the Northern Inter-scholastic; Berkeley, titleholder in the North Coast section, and Fresno, winner of the Central division, will be the local teams most dangerous rivals.

Squad Reaches Modesto
Santa Ana's squad—Coach Oliver, Captain Harvey Bear, Harold Breeding, John Moffat, Ernie Veburde, Ted Stephenson, Jack Blakeney and "Speedy" Fairchild—was in Modesto tonight. The team was slated to hold a light workout on the Modesto track late this afternoon. All of the athletes were reported in good condition and primed for what the morning may bring.

The competition, of course, will be even more rugged than what the local team experienced in the All-Southern.
Breeding, for instance, will have to beat the greatest prep miler the north has ever produced in Cliff Halstead, of Sacramento. Halstead ran second in a 51-second 440 in the Northern California Inter-scholastic and a few moments later stepped off a mile in 4 minutes, 31.15 seconds with nobody close enough to him to make him run.

Breeding vs. Halstead
In the north they don't think Halstead will have any competition and they aren't even giving

FARLEY, COMMISSION HEAD, DENIES DEMPSEY CAN'T BOX IN N. Y. SANS EXAMINATION

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, May 6.—Jack Dempsey will not have to submit to any special examination to prove his fitness before he fights again in New York, James A. Farley, chairman of the boxing commission, told the United Press today.

With unusual heat, Farley denied a report that he had ordered Dempsey to be examined thoroughly before a board of experts to prove that he was in condition. "I never said such a thing and I know I can speak for the other members of the commission," Farley said.

"If Dempsey Jack Dempsey wants to fight again in New York, all he has to do is to comply with the rules of the commission which provide fighters must weigh in eight hours before the time of the contest and be passed by the examining doctor.

"We had a case just a few days ago when stories were circulated that Billy Stribling had a lame back and would not be able to fight

Tommy Loughran. We did not force him through any more than the routine medical and physical examination that was required by the rules.

"The reports that we wanted to put Dempsey through a special examination are silly, so silly that I got quite a kick out of the suggestion of one writer who hinted the best way Dempsey could show his condition would be to line us up and take a few socks at us.

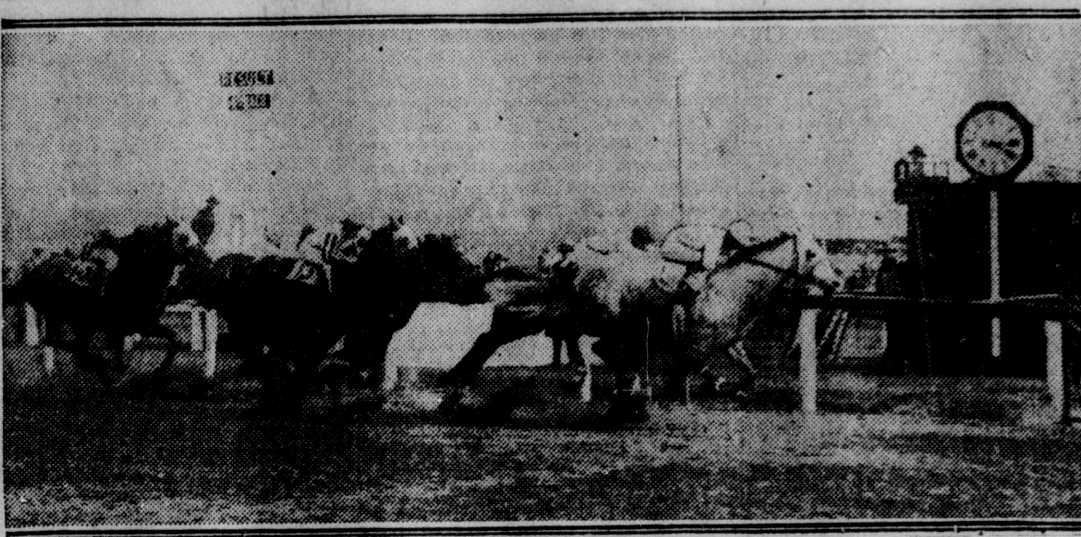

"In a position like ours, we have to take a lot of criticism but I have lost my patience over the accusation that I have a grudge against Dempsey and the champion, Gene Tunney.

"I have been called responsible for the fact that Dempsey and Tunney fought in Philadelphia instead of in New York. Perhaps it was my insistence that the rules be observed that prevented the fight from being held in New York but the rules are there and we must try to have them enforced.

"According to the rules, Harry Wills was the first challenger on the list and he merited and deserved our support. I will admit that our judgment did not stand so well when Tunney defeated Dempsey and Jack Sharkey made

SILVER FOX OUTRUNS PACK AT JAMAICA

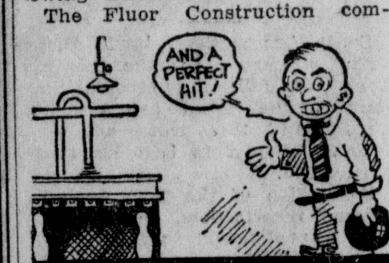

The spring meeting at the Jamaica track, New York, was opened with Silver Fox's victory in the prized Paumonok handicap. Here you see him, with Laverne Fator up, leading Harry Payne Whitney's Crocydon under the wire by half a length.

THREE BOWLING TEAMS OF S. A. IN COAST MEET

Three five-man teams, all powerful enough to cut in on capital prizes if they get in the proper wood-getting mood, will represent Santa Ana in the twelfth annual Pacific Coast Bowling Congress, now under way in Oakland.

The first local crews, the City Construction Engineers, leave for the north next Thursday and will take the maple sidewalks with the 8 p. m. squad Friday, shooting their singles and doubles the following afternoon.

pany No. 1, generally conceded the best chance of any of the local combinations, will make its splurge in the pin-pounding racket, May 20, at 5 p. m.

The Fluor Engineers include Horace Snow, Harold O'Donnell, Frank Besser, Fred Windler and Milt Varner. The City of Santa Ana squad is composed of Dan Holland, Marshall Secrest, Carl Webb, Mason Yould and Eddie West. W. R. Gordon, Bill Karam, Jimmie Heffron, Al McGaugh and Penny Jones are in the high-powered Fluor Construction lineup. This latter club will go on the drives the same night as the "ace" teams of the tournament from Los Angeles, Reno, Salt Lake, Pueblo, Tacoma, Huntington Park, Glendale and Pasadena.

First money in the five-man event will be $300.

Harry Cooper To Play In England

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—"Light-horse" Harry Cooper, local golf professional, will leave June 10 for England to compete in the British Open. It was announced here today.

Cooper, now playing an exhibition series in the northwest, will probably play his preliminary qualifying round at a San Francisco or local course.

Billy Evans Says

WILL JIM MALONEY OR JACK SHARKEY GET A CHANCE AT GENE TUNNEY'S CROWN?

These two Boston heavyweights are now rated among the leading contenders for the heavyweight championship.

They are to meet in New York May 19 in one of the many heavy-weight eliminations that Tex Rickard is staging. One of them is certain to go into the discard.

Jim Maloney, by his surprising victory over the colorful Jack Delaney, has won for himself a large following over the country. But what about the home-town folks and their opinion?

There is no place where one can get the low down on a sport celebrity as in his old home town.

FAMOUS IN RING CIRCLES
Umpiring in Boston while the national amateur ring championships were being staged, I made it a point to take in the battles between the simon-pures and saw some great milling.

Around the ringside I bumped into many of the leading fight characters in New England. This section, by the way, has always been noted for the classy ringmen it turns out.

At present "Red" Chapman, "Honey-Boy" Finnegan, Johnny Vacca and Al Mallo are just a few of the prominent title contenders in the various classes.

It struck me that a canvas of the opinions of the fight experts who were familiar with the ability of Maloney and Sharkey would be of more than passing interest.

I found the Sharkey supporters far outnumbered those who believed Maloney had a chance.

The impression seems to be that Sharkey has Maloney's number. In other words, Maloney is made to order for Sharkey for many reasons, one of which deals with psychology.

LIKE SHARKEY'S CHANCES

"Sharkey is a cocky, aggressive fellow, while Maloney is just the opposite," was the way a well-known Boston manager put it. "In two meetings between them Sharkey has had a decided edge. He recalls it with a boast, while Maloney also seems to remember it rather vividly.

"Sharkey thinks he is the greatest fighter in the world. Maloney

POLY IN VITAL LEAGUE MATCH ON ALIEN SOIL

Santa Ana high school reached another important obstacle in its chase for the Coast Preparatory league baseball bunting this afternoon, going against the lowly but nevertheless dangerous Pasadena Bulldogs at Pasadena field.

Poly went into action under something of a handicap with the heavy-hitting Jack Blakeney, left fielder, out of the game and "Specs" Drysdale, first string heavier, still weakened by a mild attack of the flu that left him indisposed earlier in the week.

Drysdale however, was to draw the deceiving assignment from Bill Foote, the "miracle coach" who came here in February from Point Loma, and put the local knowledge foundry in the title business for the first time in years. Blakeney is in the north with the high school track squad which represents Poly in the state interscholastic meet at Modesto tomorrow.

Pasadena had won but one contest and was not expected to break further into the winning ledger today although the brawl was generally expected to be close.

Poly faced the necessity of vanquishing the Bulldogs to remain in the championship race. A victory over Pasadena would put Foote's cohorts in a position to battle Alhambra at Poly field next week with the conference flag virtually at stake.

ALGER GETS N. Y. BOUT
NEW YORK, May 6.—Billy Alger, of San Francisco, and Willie Harmon, of New York, were matched today to appear in one of the 10 round preliminaries that will precede the Dundee-Latzo welterweight championship bout at the Polo Grounds June 3.

TWILIGHT BALL LEAGUE BEGINS SEASON MAY 17

Eight teams formally entered the Santa Ana Twilight Indoor Baseball association which was organized at a meeting at the T. J. Neal sporting goods store last night and which fixed Tuesday, May 17, as a date for the official opening game of the season.

Teams that will make a race of it are the We at Coast-Walker and Yost Broadway theaters, the Santa Ana post office, City hall, Y. M. C. A. Hill-Climbers, Frances E. Willard junior high school, Julia C. Lathrop junior high school and the Orange County Traffic officers.

Seth Bullock was elected president and Charles H. Berry was named secretary-treasurer. Rules and regulations that will govern the circuit also were set. The most important of these was the adoption of a 12-inch in-seam ball; the exclusion of players affiliated with night baseball clubs; the decision to locate a diamond in the southwest corner of Lincoln field so as not to interfere with night league contests and passage of a rule prohibiting more than one-fifth of the players on a team being non-employees of the clubs they represent.

Representatives of the teams named above and of others interested in the formation of another eight-club league will meet again Monday, at 5 p. m., for the purpose of drawing up a schedule of games.

Goose Goslin III, Taken to Hospital
PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 6.—Leon ("Goose") Goslin, star outfielder of the Washington Senators, was removed from a train here today and taken to a hospital. Goslin's condition was described as "not critical," but doctors said he must have rest and attention. A coach for the Washington American league team is with Goslin.

The outfielder was stricken with perilsy early this week. He collapsed at a Washington hotel and was forced out of the Washington lineup.

ALGER GETS N. Y. BOUT
NEW YORK, May 6.—Billy Alger, of San Francisco, and Willie Harmon, of New York, were matched today to appear in one of the 10 round preliminaries that will precede the Dundee-Latzo welterweight championship bout at the Polo Grounds June 3.

CHARLEY BORAH WILL RUN HERE MAY 21. CLAIM

Breeding, Vawter, Hoyer, Hall, Storms, Martinez Invited to Vie in Mile

Charley Borah, Morton ("Devil May") Kaer, Ed House, Jimmy Payne, Bob Maxwell, Murray Schultz, Les Barnes, Jack Williams and a score of other track and field celebrities will appear at Poly field here the afternoon of Saturday, May 21, in the third annual Orange County A. A. U. meet.

This was disclosed today by Graham Harris, local junior college coach, who is in charge of plans for the classic which annually draws down the curtain on the cinderpath season here.

Harris today forwarded entry blanks to every high school coach in Orange county, to Alhambra and Compton high schools and sent special invitations to numerous well known Southland interscholastic runners.

Twenty events, including several sterling special numbers starring the leading college men of Southern California, will be held this year.

Great Sprinters Lined Up
Perhaps the most important will be the special 100-yard dash between Borah, the great U. S. C. sprinter who last year forced Charley Padock to a new world record; Ed House, captain of the Trojans and a 9.8 man; Schultz, Caltech's crack short distance negotiator, and Al Claves, former Santa Ana junior college ace, now a member of the Hollywood Athletic club team.

Frank Wyckoff, Glendale high school's pride, also will be extended an invitation, Harris stated.

Another outstanding race will be the special mile in which Harris hopes to match Harold Breeding, the Santa Ana high school senior, with Bob Vawter of the local junior college; Don Hall, of Long Beach, Guy Hoyer of Chaffrey, Martinez of Chino, and Storms of Hollywood.

Kaer Coming Here, Too
Kaer, All-American football player and one of the fleetest low hurdlers in the nation, will compete in a special 220-yard low stick race against Payne, the sensational Trojan freshman from San Bernardino, Bob Maxwell, former Pomona college ace and now captain of the Los Angeles Athletic club squad, and Charley Webber, former junior college hurdler and now of U. S. C.

Harris said he also would make an effort to obtain Charley Padock to run a special 220-yard dash against Harvey Bear, captain of the Poly track team, and Wyckoff of Glendale.

The University of Southern California men will come to Santa Ana the day they leave for Philadelphia to take part in the I.C.A. meet, which they have won for the past two years.

Garden Grove To Play H. B. Sunday
When Joe Rodgers issued a blanket challenge for a three game series between his Republic Supplies and any ball team in Orange county he found at least one taker—Garden Grove Cubs, who, through their skipper, Charley Bustillos, accepted the cudgels today.

Garden Grove and the Republic Supplies will hook up in the first batfist at Huntington Beach Sunday afternoon.

is a much better fighter than he really thinks he is. It has taken much persuasive talk on the part of Maloney's manager to impress it on him.

On all sides I heard Sharkey's courage commended and while no one accuses Maloney of lacking "guts," still the inference that one would naturally get from the conversation was that Sharkey would carry on farther than Maloney if hard pressed.

So if you are willing to take the opinion of the home town folks in Boston, Jim Maloney is in for a trimming when he clashes with Jack Sharkey.

DEMPSEY SHOWS OLD CLASS IN TRAINING

SOPER'S RANCH, Cal. May 6.—Battered faces at Jack Dempsey's training camp here today indicated that the "Manassa mauler" will soon be scouting for new sparring partners.

er heavyweight champion step er heavyweight champion step through his routine paces yesterday.

Dempsey followed the usual bag punching and rope skipping with three fast rounds, wearing 18-ounce gloves, but displayed his former knockout wallop.

Vic Alexander, negro heavyweight, worked the first round with Dempsey, only to be floored in the session. "Fresno" Benny Hill was stopped in the next round, with Alexander coming back for the third round, only to be dropped twice more.

K. O. OF ROBERTS UNUSUAL

Also got a new slant on the knockout of Eddie Roberts by Al Mello, which was one of the big surprises of the year.

Mello is one of those unorthodox fighters who stick the right hand out instead of the left. He does most of his dangerous punching with a left hook or swing, while he jabs his opponent into position with a tantalizing right.

According to ringsters, Roberts was the victim of a most peculiar punch. Meeting in the center of the ring, Mello cut loose with a left swing that landed high on the chest. Roberts turned in such a way that the punch instead of landing solidly, slipped upward and the real contact was on Roberts' throat. The impact cut off his power to breathe and I am told he fell forward on his face for one of the freakiest knockouts ever seen in this section.

Those not in a position to see where the full force of the blow landed thought Roberts was taking a dive, yet he was badly hurt.

SANTA ANA SET FOR BIG STATE TRACK CLASSIC

Breeding a tumble but they will tomorrow when they see the long legged Santa Ana boy begin to pick 'em up and lay 'em down in that stretch. Halstead will have to run 4:27 to beat Breeding, if Breeding is "right."

Bear is Poly's best bet to upset the dope. The handsome captain has the stamina to take the measure of Wykoff and Slocum in the 220 yard dash and he has set his heart on turning the trick as a climax to his three years' service under Santa Ana's colors. The Polyite lacks the early speed of the Glendale flyers but he is a tough hombre in those final 50 yards. Don't fall dead if you hear about him winning the furlong in 21 4-10 seconds. He can do it if he judges his pace correctly.

Velarde, Moffatt and the Poly relay men are all great "come-through" artists, among the finest athletes Santa Ana has ever turned out, and everything depends on their form in this meet.

If any of them fall down, Poly's cause is a hopeless one.

If they outdo their best previous performances, strange things may happen in that little San Joaquin city.

MODESTO READY FOR BIG CLASSIC

MODESTO, Calif., May 6.—One hundred and sixty high school track and field athletes representing schools from San Diego to Eureka, will compete here tomorrow in the finals of the state high school track meet.

Winners from each of the four districts, north, south, bay and central, will represent their schools in the classic.

The meet will bring together the cream of the prep school stars of the entire state and the boys finishing first and second in the events here probably will be eligible to compete in the National prep-school track meet in Chicago.

Dons Play Pirate Team Tomorrow

Santa Ana junior college's baseball team will play its conference tussle with Pasadena junior college tomorrow morning at Pasadena.

dona in order to accommodate the undefeated Pirates, Coach Graham Harris of the locals announced today.

Catcher Bill Poe, who is ill, will be replaced by Captain Henrik Van Rensselaer. Mike Chaffee will pitch. Green will be at first base, Rozelle at second, Knight at third and McMillan at short. Harter Smith and Minge will be in the outfield.

RY LAW INCREASES
GRAPE PRODUCTION

FRESNO, May 6.—Contrary to a predicted "destruction" of California's vineyards, grape production in the state has increased approximately 65 per cent since the passage of the national prohibition amendment, according to statistics prepared for an interstate commerce commission hearing here.

Carlot shipments of grapes from California to eastern markets have been tripled.

There were 2,040,000 tons of grapes produced in the state in 1926 as compared with 1,230,000 tons in 1919, the figures, which are gathered from numerous authentic sources, show. Carlot shipments have jumped from 21,605 in 1919 to 63,549 last year.

Refrigerator cars full of grapes at from this state last year nearly equalled the amount of all perishable freight from California in 1919.

Shower Petals
On Parading Vets

SANTA ROSA, Calif., May 6.—Twenty bushels of red, white and blue flower petals will be showered upon the delegates to the A. R. state convention when they parade here May 15. The petals will be flung from the windows of downtown buildings, as the big parade passes, it was decided by a local Chamber of Commerce.

Collapses Result
In Charleston Ban

PARIS, May 6.—Denouncing the Charleston as highly dangerous to health, especially to women, the municipality of Nancy is considering forbidding the dance in the public halls of that city. This is the result of the physical collapse of four professional dancing girls after having gone through the rations of the Charleston for several hours.

Our Neighbors

POMONA.—The Valencia season commenced this week in the Pomona valley, with an estimate of 1927 crop, in most sections of the valley is expected to be heavier than it was last year, with the exception of the extreme eastern section where wind did a great deal of damage during the winter. The houses in the O. K. exchange anticipate a 125 car load shortage as compared with last year. As nearly as could be ascertained by the various exchanges in the valley will ship as follows: O. K., 373 cars; La Verne, 325 cars, or perhaps 30 cars more than last year; San Dimas, 455 cars; San Antonio, 625 cars; La Verne cooperative, 120 cars, or a 100 per cent gain over last year, due both to the increase in acreage and to the heavier crop.

RIVERSIDE.—A municipal bond election with four major propositions on the ballot will be conducted on June 21. Voters will decide whether to bond for $105,000 for a new Victoria-avenue bridge, $50,000 for completion of the municipal auditorium, $75,000 for extensions and equipment for the fire department, and $20,000 for the city hall. The council expects to issue 4 1-2 per cent bonds, taking advantage of a favorable market believed now to exist. Several offers for purchase of the proposed issue have been received, one offering to take the full $250,000 at 4 3-4 per cent with a premium of $1875 and another to purchase at par at 4 1-2 per cent. The councilmen have refused all propositions thus far presented, expressing a desire to submit the bonds to competitive bids following election.

VAN NUYS.—A new sort of drive is taking place here and in the vicinity and it seems to be doing well. "Pay Your Bills and Help the Community Get Ahead" is the slogan back of the serious campaign being made by the local credit association fostered by home merchants and others doing a credit or installment business. One of the officials of the organizations today said that it is typical of some western communities to do business on a "manana" basis, when the circulating of more cash would tend to spruce up trade in general. "For this reason," the official said, "we decided to check up on all manana accounts and start an intensive pay-your-bills drive. So far all delinquents appear to be kicking in pretty well."

RESEDA.—Between 10 and 15 carloads of head lettuce are being shipped daily out of San Fernando valley, from here and other leading stations. Demand is holding up well according to market reports and there is a likelihood of prices maintaining for the remainder of the shipping season, which will last until hot weather when the heat will spoil parts of crops ungathered. Two thousand acres in the valley were planted to lettuce this year, some of the acres yielding $2500 in returns. Late frosty weather and rains and a freak hailstorm within the last month or six weeks put a crimp in total output expected.

SOCIETY TAKES UP
CURSE OF PHAROAH

LONDON, May 6.—The curse of the Pharaohs has been referred to at the conference of the Royal Microscopical society. The latest theory of the credulous seems to be that those who disturb the tombs of the Pharaohs will die from mysterious diseases due to bacteria. No traces of any bacteria, however, have been revealed by a microscopic investigation of the wrappings that encased the body of Tutankhamen.

An enormous number of people, while perhaps not supporting the bacteria theory, are convinced that the tragic death of Lord Carnarvon was due to the bite of a mysterious bat, which was presumably the Ka of the dead man, who was infuriated at the desecration of his last resting place.

The idea must be pretty widespread, since it has been adopted commercially, and the old fly made out of elastic and a hairpin delighted children twenty years ago has reappeared in the shape of a large and awe-inspiring bat. This is set and inclosed in an envelope, and the recipient on tearing open the letter is startled by a dreadful, bat-like creature that flops out between his fingers. This toy is advertised as "Tutankhamen's vampire bat!"

The story of the curse of Tutankhamen is as hardy, apparently, as that of the painted mummy that sank the Titanic.

A war gas has turned out to be of great use to the silk industry. When the cocoons are killed, it is found that gassing them is much better than the old methods of baking or steaming. The cocoon is said to keep much longer, and therefore can be handled as non-perishable merchandise in transportation and storage.

the shipping season, which will last until hot weather when the heat will spoil parts of crops ungathered. Two thousand acres in the valley were planted to lettuce this year, some of the acres yielding $2500 in returns. Late frosty weather and rains and a freak hailstorm within the last month or six weeks put a crimp in total output expected.

RIVERSIDE.—With 233 carloads sent to eastern markets, citrus shipments from the Riverside district last week were said by growers to be remarkably large for the latter part of April, as it is near the end of the navel season and too early for heavy Valencia shipments. The season's shipments to date now are 4658, compared with 3522 carloads at the same time last year.

Serve Savory Pot Roast

When the butcher's sharp knife separates the shoulder from the ribs, fate decrees that the meat on the shoulder side of the dividing line shall sell for about half the price of the meat on the rib side.

Only a line as wide as the knife blade separates them, yet because people are more familiar with rib roasts than with pot roasts, there is a considerable price difference between them.

Quality and food value, however, differ little, and the housewife who buys meat from the shoulder for a savory pot roast makes a nice saving. And there are many who say that no meat is more tender, delicious or nourishing than a well prepared pot roast.

Meat from the shoulder also is delicious when served as steak, in stews, and in a number of other ways.

BRUTALITY IN SPORTS HIT BY LITERARY MEN

LONDON, May 6.—Thomas

Hardy, venerable and with his years of activity behind him, hopes that he may accomplish one more thing before he dies—that is, he hopes he may do something toward inducing English men and women to abate what he considers the "brutality of their sports."

He has issued a public message that is attracting the attention of every sort of publicist, including, of course, all those connected with merciful societies, such as the S. P. C. A., (a Royal matter here in England). The first words of this are: "The human race being still practically barbaric, it does not seem likely that men's delight in cruel sport can be lessened except by slow degrees. To attempt even this is, however, a worthy object, which I commend."

Various other people of importance have declared agreement with him, and these include another literary light of many candlepower, Eden Phillpotts. He says he opposes "blood sports" "like every other educated man," "because they are inhuman and barbarous and belong to a period of evolution through which we should long ago have passed."

"Let us try to educate the coming generation to a clearer and more decent standard of sport. 'I hear a ridiculous argument that young people can only be made brave and plucky and 'sporting' on the hunting field. It is drivell of that sort we must combat."

Forgotten Man In Prison 41 Years

MOSCOW, May 6.—A prisoner of the former Tsar Nicholas II who spent 41 years in solitary exile on the Island of Sakhalin, including 10 unnecessary years because he was so isolated that he did not know the Tsar had been overthrown, has just been found by the historical research bureau of the Communist party. His name is Bugaiski. With 28 others, he was sentenced to hard labor and exile in solitary confinement for life in 1885, after a trial for political offences against the Tsar. He was 19 years old at that time.

Pirate's Treasure Uncovered In Cuba

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, May 6.—While making an excavation on a downtown lot, workmen uncovered a buried earthenware jar containing old Spanish coins to the value of more than $30,000. Manuel Barrio, owner of the property, has refused to give any information regarding the find, but it is believed the money was hidden by some resident of Santiago during the time when pirates roamed the Caribbean sea.

LIONS VICTIMS OF TRICK WORD SPELLING BEE

Lions present at the meeting of the Santa Ana club yesterday did not rate very high in an "intelligence" test, given as a feature of the program arranged by H. E. Wahlberg, past president of the club.

The test was the spelling of 10 words in every day use and, according to reports, only one man spelled six words correctly, with the greater majority of the members registering correctly on one word only.

These are the words Wahlberg shot at his unsuspecting friends: Klmono, supersede, paraffin, tranquility, naptha, battalion, plonick, rarely, sacrilegious, liquefy.

Wahlberg continued his program on education by introducing W. O. Wark, world tour director of this city, who gave an interesting and instructive address on Vienna and Austria. The speaker declared Vienna the most interesting city in the world and pointed to many things in support of his assertion. Arrangements were made for the club members and their families to attend church Sunday, at 11 a. m., as the club's annual courtesy to its "sky pilot" member, the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, pastor of the First Congregational church. The pastor's subject will be "Sentiment and Sense About Mothers' Day."

Members were reminded of the approach of the annual district convention of Lions clubs to be held in Riverside May 26, 27 and 28, by announcement by President C. S. Crookshank of the names of the delegates and alternates. They were:

Delegates—Homer Chaney, C. H. Van Antwerp, H. E. Wahlberg, F. L. Purinton, A. G. Tucker, Herb Miller, Harold Yost. Alternates—J. R. Hunt, J. H. Hughes, Gar-

Ross, L. D. Coffing, J. A. Peterson, Walter Spicer, Jud House. Violin solos by Ollimae Matthews accompanied on the piano by Ione Tunison Peak, provided the special musical program.

Jawbone of Horse Imbedded 30 Feet Below River Bed

CORVALLIS, Ore., May 6.—Although the present day horses in America are descendants of animals imported after the discovery of the western world, horses ranged the western plains long before the time of Columbus.

That is the opinion of Oregon Agricultural college professors who have the jawbone of a horse which is thought to be of great age. The bone was found imbedded in sandstone, 30 feet below the bed of Pudding river.

Belief that is goes back to prehistoric days was expressed by D. C. Livingston, professor of geology, who bases his belief on the fact that the bone was found in sandstone.

Southern California Gardens

By RUSSELL S. ADKINSON

The month of May is bringing with it the first touch of real California spring weather. Plants are deriving untold benefit from it.

So far, we have been favored with but very little real good growing weather, and have found the pest hazard greatly increased because of dark and damp days.

Some plants have thrived as well as any season while others have not and as a rule all have been retarded.

There seems to be a general impression that it is too late for further gardening. This is a grave mistake. Many plants should not be planted until late, many others have a long season for planting and still others may be planted the entire year.

All three groups are worthy of attention. The latter is especially important as so many people have been unable to plant this spring and because of the approach of summer feel that they should postpone further planting until next year. There are so many hardy plants to choose from that may be planted monthly that there is no necessity of hesitating to plant at any time.

Asters, zinnias, snapdragons, and chrysanthemums are being planted heavily at present by those looking forward to fall flowers. Along with these may still be considered the Dahlia tubers. Do not postpone planting of any of the above as the sooner you do so the longer their flowering period will be.

It is advisable to use the small plants in stead of seeds in the case of all but the Dahlias. There is no risk in placing them in the open garden now.

Seeds
A few seeds are advised for planting during the month of May.

The principal ones are Aquilegia, Cosmos, Morning Glory, Campanula, Digitalis, Delphinium, Nasturtium, and Portulaca. Seeds planted now should germinate much quicker than earlier plantings but will require more frequent watering.

Hardy Shrubs
Almost the entire list of hardy shrubs and hedge plants may be planted to advantage at this time as well as any month. Established in containers, a plant in full blossom should not feel the effects of proper transplanting. There seems to be a tendency among planters to avoid the plant in bloom for transplanting during warm weather.

There is no more danger of losing one in full bloom than one with no blossoms.

Roses
Although the heavy rose sales since the first of the year have greatly reduced the number of available good varieties, there are still some very good ones on the market. If they have been established in cases you need not hesitate in planting them. It is a splendid time to choose rose bushes as many of them are flowering which offers an opportunity of selecting by sight instead of description which is often quite difficult.

A number of questions have been asked recently regarding roses, some of which follow:

Q—What is an effective means of eradicating aphids?

A—Several spray materials are advocated for controlling aphids. "Black Leaf 40" is quite effective. "Volck" seems to give better results, however. A good plan is to mix a little "Black Leaf 40" with "Volck."

Q—Where should I cut the stem of a rose?

A—For best results, cut the rose stem about one-quarter of an inch above the second bud from the base of the stem.

Q—What is a good fertilizer for roses?

A—Farm fertilizers are found to be about the most beneficial for roses.

In the last 75 years British Columbia has contributed more than $1,265,000,000 to the mineral wealth of the world.

MASTER OF KING'S HORSE LOSES POST

LONDON, May 6.—The ancient office of the king's master of the horse is to be abolished in the interest of economy.

The office at present is held by the Earl of Granard, who married Miss Beatrice Mills, daughter of the late Ogden Mills, of New York, in 1909. Reports in court circles have it that the earl will be the last holder of this title.

Since the war economies have been effected at court to the extent of more than 20,000 pounds annually, without any loss of efficiency. The king makes no secret of the fact that he is entirely in accord with persons who have been urging strict economy.

The master of the horse is the third ranking dignitary of the sovereign's household, all questions of the king's horses and hounds as well as the stables and coaches being under his jurisdiction.

MEXICAN RELATIONS IMPROVE

Can it be that we are drifting again into an era of good feeling with Mexico? Recent developments suggest that.

A public statement made by President Coolidge has told with evident pleasure of official assurance from the Mexican government that it would not take American property without compensation, and suggested that the way was open to settle pending disputes amicably through established agencies.

President Calles of Mexico has welcomed that statement and come right back with another. "It is not only possible but easy," says Calles, "to arrive at a friendly understanding." He pleads that the two nations so conduct themselves "that our bonds of friendship will never be injured." The evident cordiality on both sides is quite different from the sharpness of exchanges between the two governments during the last few months.

As for the machinery of adjustment, President Calles remarks that American claims against Mexico are being passed upon continually by the general and special claims commissions created during the presidency of Gen. Obregon. He refers to two arbitration commissions empowered to settle disputes between the two countries, and declares that Mexico has always favored such a method. By implication, he suggests that the Mexican courts can be trusted, too, in this matter. He expressly disclaims any intent of confiscation, whether of American agricultural lands or oil lands, and commits his country to an honorable policy, worked out by peaceful procedure.

This is getting somewhere. When the spirit is right, the machinery can be trusted. Things are running more smoothly, in spite of the undoubted efforts of some American interests to embroil the two countries for their own selfish benefit.

AMERICAN POLICY IN CHINA

The United States government, while co-operating militarily with the other powers in their protective work in China, is apparently pursuing a course of its own diplomatically. This is a policy in which most Americans take genuine satisfaction.

Whatever reasons there may be for co-operating with other powers in international matters elsewhere, and there are many, the argument for unity has little application to China. European interests there are not ours. America has no concessions there, no seaports, no special holdings or rights or privileges of any kind. It has only the history and tradition of square dealing with China, and insistence that in trade matters all nations shall be treated alike.

America has been a consistent friend of China for half a century, while other powers have been grabbing Chinese territory and acquiring dubious privileges of many kinds which they now feel called on to defend. It is no part of American duty to help the other powers hold these privileges. America is not obligated to pull any of their chestnuts out of the fire, or join them in coercing China to provide more chestnuts.

America asks only for fair treatment of Americans, and protection for American life and property, and will stand a better chance of getting these benefits by playing a lone hand than by helping the game of the imperialistic powers.

Great Britain, France and Italy seem to feel very bad about it. They might feel better if they would follow the American example. And they may do that very thing, if America stands pat on her own policy of justice to China and non-interference in Chinese affairs.

PROMINENCE AND SERVICE

In this age of press agents, when even scientists and philosophers can gain both fame and money, it is a good thing for us to remember that not many years ago the most serviceable citizens might work all their lives in comparative obscurity.

We are referring to the late Prof. Josiah Willard Gibbs of Yale, whose name that university is now honoring with a special endowment fund.

Probably not ten people in a million have heard of him. Yet America's industry is deeply in his debt.

Prof. Gibbs' work is unintelligible to one not a chemist; but it served as a basis for all that has been done in the last two-score years in metallic alloys. This "unheard of" professor contributed to pure science and, at the same time, to American industry.

Yale is wise in doing his memory justice.

NO MORE GUNS BY MAIL

May 10 is a notable day for one reason. On that day the law prohibiting the promiscuous use of the mails for the shipping of firearms will become effective. Congress enacted the law and Postmaster General New has sent a list of the regulations to all postmasters and responsible postal officials. From May 10 forward it should be difficult for gun-buyers to get their weapons from mail order houses and to make the United States government a party to their purchases by carrying the guns in the mail.

A fine of $1000 and a two-year term in a federal penitentiary are the penalties for so using the mails. Gun-men will still get hold of guns, but not quite so easily as before. Barring firearms from the mails is only one small move in their regulation, but it is one decidedly in the right direction.

LEARNING ENGLISH

Two titled English women are said to be making a good living teaching English to Americans. It is really easier, they say, than teaching English to continental Europeans. Their pupils are largely Americans who are doing business in England, and Americans with social ambitions. The main thing is to acquire the English pronunciation and accent. Given a fair English vocabulary, and a reasonable amount of intelligence, that can be done in a few weeks. The learner naturally is taught, too, many words commonly used in England that are not used in America, or which have different shades of meaning.

That is entertaining, and probably does no harm—especially if the Americans are also taught to avoid their flat "a" and inject a little English flexibility into their tones. The English do slur their syllables dreadfully, and run words together in a scandalous way, but their vowels and voice-control are usually more musical than ours.

Four-fifths of our murderers are never found. And when the other fifth admit their crime, the juries act as if they didn't believe it.

Nation's Anthems Need No Changes

San Bernardino Sun

As a result of a contest by the National Federation of Music Clubs, in which nearly a thousand manuscripts were submitted, it has been decided by the federation that not one of them offered music for the increasingly popular song "America The Beautiful" better than the air to which it is now being sung. That air is an old church song, "O Mother Dear, Jerusalem," and has long been a favorite. It is safe to say that we shall have to look a long time before anything so harmonious and grand will be found. It may be a borrowed tune, but with its new words it has become known to millions who never heard of the original hymn. Just as millions never heard of "Anacraon In Heaven," original of "Star Spangled Banner."

One who has ever heard a great chorus sing "America The Beautiful" is not impressed with the great need of another music for the beautiful and inspiring words. Unlike the national anthem it is easily sung and wells up like a paean. But great music, like great songs, is not turned out mechanically to win a contest. We have been a nation for a century and a half and have four great national songs. Two of them masquerade in borrowed English music and the third came out of the Civil War, both words and music. That shows how unlikely we are to get a grand, inspiring and unique air for this latest of our national anthems. Better that the music of any of the four are the words and the sentiment they convey. They do not glorify war. They are not odes to glory and combat. They breathe loyalty, love of country, firmness for the right and a profound trust in God. Compare them with the national songs and hymns of any other land under the sun and you will see the difference. They stand alone, grand, human, strong and reverent. They are the spirit of the nation.

Co-operation Builds Highways

San Francisco Chronicle

Now that it is all over except for the governor's signature—which may be taken for granted—general congratulations are in order on the passage of the bill providing another penny of gasoline tax for the completion of the California highway program.

In particular congratulations go to the two automobile clubs which succeeded in compromising the opposing viewpoints of the two ends of the state and bringing about united support for the Breed bill. This was the essential task, for it was this antagonism which has held up the highway program for two years.

There never was any doubt of popular willingness in California to raise the money to complete our great road building task. Some persons—not many—have complained of the friendliness of the legislature to the Breed bill after the people had defeated similar measures at the last election. It should be said that the defeat of these measures was only seemingly by the people. There were two conflicting measures, and they beat each other. Had the people been presented with one sound plan it would have carried.

The legislature, which knows the sentiment of the people of the state toward the highway program, has expressed it correctly by its votes in the two houses. It was enabled so to do by the co-operative spirit which has replaced the former antagonism. Now the highway program can go on. It is a large and expensive task, but the cost will come back to us many times over. California with a full highway system will be a California doubled in value.

We Might Get It By Next Year

San Francisco Chronicle

Summer is at hand again, and without the daylight saving that would add so much to the enjoyment of California's charm. An hour of sunshine very day that could be added to the period of recreation will be spent in offices and factories just because we lack the legal machinery for moving up the clocks.

Recent attempts to inaugurate daylight saving have been efforts at local regulation. What is needed is a national law, to avoid confusion in time, to move all the clocks forward an hour when the days lengthen and move the clocks back when the days grow shorter.

Agitation for a national daylight saving law usually becomes brisk in the summer, when we wish we had it, but when congress is not in session to give it to us. Interest wanes when the summer season passes. It is like the man in Arkansas who would not mend his roof in fair weather because it did not leak then and would not mend it in wet weather because he did not want to go out in the rain.

Now is the time for daylight saving advocates to get busy crystallizing public opinion and keep it going until congress meets again. It would be possible to have daylight saving next year.

SLEEPING SICKNESS REMAINS UNSOLVED

About 1918 numerous cases began to appear in the United States of a condition promptly christened by the newspaper "American sleeping sickness." It became necessary for physicians to explain the difference between this condition and the African sleeping sickness, of which much is definitely known. The American condition was characterized by a progressive stupor or lethargy in some instances, although in certain others there was excitement and babbling. The disease occurred most commonly in the winter months, rarely in children, and affected both sexes.

It had various forms, all of them, however, affecting the nervous system, bringing about difficulties in motion, peculiarities of conduct and paralysis. Apparently early epidemics had followed influenza, as the one of 1918 followed the influenza epidemic which spread across the world in 1915, 1916 and 1917.

The disease is quite certainly communicable from one person to another, but its cause is unknown. Its spread has caused much alarm, since the condition cannot be controlled by any known methods. As with infantile paralysis, from which this disease differs in many particulars, spreading probably occurs by the discharges from the nose and throat of infected persons, or from articles soiled with these discharges. Presumably the contact is direct, although it cannot be demonstrated in every instance. In view of what is already known concerning this disease, persons who are sick should be isolated and all discharges, as well as clothing associated with them, should be thoroughly disinfected. The treatment of this condition, what physicians call "symptomatic," giving attention to controlling each one of the symptoms as it develops.

Profit In Attractiveness

Kansas City Star

It has been one of the serious criticisms of American cities that they lack distinctiveness and attractiveness. A street, a section or an entire center with a marked and appealing individuality has been a rare development. But today there are forces at work in a large number of cities that give promise of a new order. For several years an organization in New York City, the Fifth Avenue association, has furnished an excellent example of the achievement possible where enterprise and persistent effort are combined.

The increase of property values as well as the growing distinctiveness of the one thoroughfare with which this organization originally was concerned, have become widely familiar. But the association's work and influence have expanded far beyond the visions of its founders. It is an agency no longer engaged in the building up of a single street. The scope of its influence constantly has widened until now it extends over a good part of the lower and middle section of Manhattan. Tenants and property owners on numerous other streets have sought to co-operate with the association and to gain for themselves the benefits that have been secured on a single avenue.

A recent report of the association's work in the last year reveals, for example, that protection of the ordinance forbidding illuminated and protruding signs on Fifth avenue now is being sought by 1000 merchants on nearby streets. Encouragement of attractive building, long a part of the association's work, also is affecting more than a single thoroughfare. Removal of sidewalk nuisances, such as beggars and peddlers, is making its appeal as a sound business proposition, as is the plan of the association to keep the sidewalks clear of obstructions where building is in progress. In addition, there has been co-operation with city authorities in the enforcement of zoning; in dealing with the smoke nuisance; in protection of parks and other public property; in promoting better health and sanitary conditions, and in the prevention of useless noises.

All such activities look to the betterment of a city as a place in which to live and do business. They mean stabilized and growing property values. They contribute to beauty and character in a street or district. They are, in fact, good business. Some day this practice not only will be widely accepted, but applied.

Worth While Verse

SWUNG TO THE VOID

Once, suddenly, I found myself alone,
Out in the void of a great city, filled
With tremblings and the cry of many fears.
Making escape out of the human deep.
I climbed heart-troubled to the leafy hills;
And stetching on a bank above a stream,
I gazed up to the dome of the high boughs,
And wondered over life and life's alarms.
And as I lay there asking for a sign,
I saw a spider flash his filmy ropes
Across the dome; saw him, with rapturous fall,
Drop on a silver cable to the void,
And hang serenely in the rosy beams
Of sunset—hang all still and unafraid.

And lo, a courage came upon my soul,
With long, long thoughts of this adventurer,
This little dweller in the floorless air,
Held in the peace that folds the earth and stars.

—Edwin Markham.

The Patchwork Quilt

BY ELEANOR YOUNG ELLIOTT
(Have you any patches to add to it?)

MOTHER

The sunlight falls so softly thru the blossom-burdened trees; A fragrance as of Araby, is on the mountain breeze. The roses in the garden have a tender spring-like glow That takes me back to childhood and its flowers of long ago. The air so filled with music finds an echo in my heart And at the swelling memories, my tears, unbidden, start. For the fragrance of the roses and the sunlight sitting thru The swaying plum-tree branches, bring a memory of you. Those springtime days of childhood—they vanished long ago And I carry but the memory of the love I used to know. But the memory is happy and it makes my life complete—Like a faded rose's beauty, though it's vanished, still is sweet.

CHRONICLES OF THE LITTLE GRAY HOUSE

Both red and white flowers will nod in their vases at the Little Gray House on Mother's day. Red roses for the two Sons who will want flowers for a living mother, white blossoms for that mother for the one she has "loved and lost awhile."

What flowers will you wear? May we hope it is the red, but if it must be the white, that the memories are all sweet and have no little secret sorrows of tenderness that was never shown, kind words that remained unspoken.

On this Mother's Day, may I pause to tell you a precept of my little Quaker grandmother, that was handed down by my mother: "Let not the sun set on thy anger." Remember it, not just on Mother's Day, but every day.

A MESSAGE

I like right much, your Patchwork Quilt,
The festive plan on which 'tis built;
A bit of dark square, here and there—

(Hankies burned, left on the fire) But it takes the dark and it takes the light,
To make a Patchwork quilt look just right.

RETURNED KISSES

Of all who pretend, you have only one friend
Who never went back on you—
Only one who will stay on your trail to the end—

Only one who is loyal and true; She'll never desert you through thick or through thin,
This friend who is loyal and tried; Altho you're in trouble clear up to your chin,
You'll find her right there at your side.

So press a warm kiss on her cheek when you want her to be true,
And thrill her old bosom with joy; You'll be only returning the kisses, young man,
That she gave you when you were a boy!

The world only cares for the clink of your gold,
And the flavor and age of your wine;
'Twill show you some day when you're wrinkled and old,
And your fortune is on the decline.

Better stick to the friend who is loyal and true,
And has never been known to fail;
When Life's journey is o'er she'll be waiting for you
Not far from the end of the trail.

So press a warm kiss on her cheek, and be glad
You can thrill her old bosom with joy;
You'll be only returning the kisses you've had Since you were a chunk of a boy!

Dear Lady Patchers:
Haven't much time to write and tell all the queer things I've been seeing lately in my wanderings around thru the countryside; but some of the signs are very puzzling, like this one: "Young Reds, Priars and Goats milk Boes"; also Grape Fruit Pups." We did not know whether we were getting into a new Russian community, or some kind of a circus menagerie—so we stepped on the gas.

It's funny that none of your truant contrbs ever produced any plausible alibi for their recent wanderings; I've been thinking that I might develop my kodak films and send you some nice little mementos of these trips—it would be fun for you to keep a sort of "Rogues' Gallery."

MOTHER'S DAY

Time has left its aging traces,
Marked the furrows on your brow,
Changed your once brighter locks to silver.

Yet you're no dearer now,
Dearer than in all my life-time,
For I now can realize
How your life's been given to others.

One continual sacrifice;
And though time may leave its traces,
This, on Mother's Day, I'll say,
That my love is everlasting.

And each day is Mother's Day.

HARD ON THE ARTIST

She had painted upon a plaque a gorgeous scarlet breasted bird, poised with partially extended wings upon a spray of rare tropical foliage. Two small visitors, alone in the room, were overheard to converse as follows:

She—"Aint them flowers pretty?"
He—"Where? I don't see no flowers."

She—"There, in that picture over the door."
He (contemptuously)—"Them ain't no flowers—that's a duck with a real stumuck."

I'VE BEEN READING

"Where Strange Gods Call," by Henry Hervey. And if you like a travel book, told in a distinctly personal manner that you will feel like you have talked with the traveler, get it and read it.

Of course Henry Hervey must be very young. The book has all the enthusiasm and effervescent spirits of youth. Also he has youth's desire to paint so lovely a picture that everyone will stop to admire. It makes his colorful stories almost too colorful at times. Just the same it is a fascinating story he tells. A story of unusual personalities—a tale of a charming Oriental courtesan—of a beach comber of the South Sea islands—of an impassive Chinese gentleman who might have been emperor—

He trails Lafcadio Hearn and Pierre Loti through the Orient, and shudders with memories of Loti in the dreary cemetery above Nagasaki—"The city where Loti dwelt with Chrysanthemum." On to China and his thrills there—on to Manila, the Straits Settlements, Batavia, Java. . . In Manila by the way, he encounters the "Santa Ana Cabaret"—the Largest in the World." Yes, he has an adventure there—a fascinating adventure. The book ends as it began—

"They lie over the slope of the earth . . . Angkor . . . Penang . . . Zanzibar . . . towns whose names call to youth like the notes of a bugle . . ."

The Early Robin

By SHIRLEY RODMAN WILLIAMS

THE arrival of the first robin!—Is there any event more thrilling! The little folk catch the reflected excitement and eagerly ask, "Where has the robin been? Why are you so glad?" It's a splendid time to explain the migratory habits of the birds; where they spend the winter, and that the assurance of nature within them often brings them back for nesting and the summer, even before the Spring has really driven Winter to the far north. It is because they do come back before the winter is all gone that we are so glad to see them, for we know the Spring can't be far behind.

HIGH up in the maple his red waistcoat swelling,
A Robin is calling, of Springtime he's telling,
He sings of the Southland, of sunshine and clover,
Of green hills and brooks he sings over and over,
To tell us of Spring!

"Cheerio," sings the Robin, the days may be chilly,
And some folks will say, "Why that Robin Bird's silly!"
But I few past the Springtime that northward is creeping,
And saw all the buds and the flowerlets peeping
To welcome the Spring!

I'm a little bit early and chill winds are blowing,
But I rather like all the blowing and snowing,
Because, don't you see, I know Springtime is coming,
And trees will be budding and wee brooklets running
To tell us it's Spring!

I'm looking around for a nest-site that's cheery,
So Mrs. Chirp Robin will never feel dreary;
Where sunshine and blossoms will welcome our young,
As high in the branches their cradle is swung
As soon as it's Spring!

"Cheerio," sings the Robin, his red waistcoat swelling,
Of blue eggs and birdlings his glad song is telling,
He sings of the meadow knee deep in pink clover,
Of Springtime and joy he sings over and over
For soon 'twill be Spring!
